Blonds Ignored as Five Brunets Snare Agencies' Beauty Honors

Quintet To Contest at Jaycee Ball for Workers.

By JEANNE OSBORNE.

Tall, slender brunets seem to be the government's idea of what it takes to pep up the civilian morale and keep it well above the danger point.

So it appears from the results of beauty contests held among the various government agencies here to determine the contestants for the Miss Victory Fashion contest at the Junior Chamber of Commerce's Welcome to Atlanta ball to be held Friday night from 9 to 1 o'clock at the Biltmore hotel.

Contrary to the ancient maxim that "gentlemen prefer blondes," the five young ladies chosen by secret ballot of their respective offices were all models of brunet pulchritude. Banishing the old-fashioned ideal of the cuddly, clinging-vine type, all were tall, slender, and stately.

These heralds of a new era of beauty are Miss Ruth Pittard, Office of Civilian Defense, daughter of S. F. Pittard, 1492 Ponce de Leon avenue, N. E.; Miss Marian Thompson, War Production Board, daughter of Mrs. Inez Thompson, 710 Piedmont avenue, N. E.; Miss Hazel Scott, National Housing Agency, daughter of Mrs. J. B. Scott, 2040 Peachtree road, N. E.; Miss Reba Jo Sellers, Office of Emergency Management, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sellers, 907 Piedmont avenue, N. E.; and Janet Hilley, Office of Defense Transportation, 934 Amsterdam avenue, N. E.

Instead of the usual frilly evening gown, they will don slacks, shorts and sport clothes for the ball in order to emphasize the idea that the civilian population can enjoy vacation fun, though at home. The lucky girl who appears to the greatest advantage in the eyes of Mayor Hartsfield and other leading citizens will receive a loving cup.

The purpose of this parade of beauties is to pep up the morale of the workers in war agencies.

Cruiser Santa Fe Goes Down Ways

CAMPDEN, N. J., June 10.—(AP) The big cruiser Santa Fe was launched in a "closed ceremony" at the New York Shipbuilding Corporation yards today—a year and three days after the keel was put down.

A bottle of water from the Santa Fe river was broken over the bow by 14-year-old Caroline Trevelyan Chavez, of Santa Fe, as the mighty vessel headed down the ways.

The water had been blessed by the Archbishop of Santa Fe, oldest diocese in America.

Because of wartime conditions, only a group of naval officers, company officials, workmen and members of the sponsor's official party were admitted to the busy yards for the ceremony.

3 Air Raid Sirens To Scream Today

The latest thing in air raid sirens will be tested at three places in Atlanta and vicinity today, it was announced yesterday with the warning that the noise might scare unwary citizens into panic.

The "Victory Siren," perfected by the Office of Civilian Defense, will scream its practice warning at 11:50 o'clock this morning at Five Points, at 1:30 o'clock at Peachtree road and Andrews drive, and at 4 o'clock at Egan park and Whipple avenue, George M. Phillips, director of the metropolitan area, said.

Spotters will be distributed around the city to report on the clearness of the warnings.

Grobba, German Agent, Escapes From Yemen

CAIRO, June 10.—(AP)—Germany's "Lawrence of Arabia," Dr. Fritz Grobba, was reliably reported today to have escaped from Yemen in Arabia, where he had been tracked down after a hectic year in which he tried to stir up Arab tribesmen in Syria and Iran against the British. Grobba, who formerly was German minister in Sauda Arabia, was known as the "gold purse agitator" because of his lavish distribution of gold in an effort to win over the tribesmen to Germany's side.

Jury Remains Undecided On Evans Verdict

At the end of its second day of deliberations on the guilt or innocence of Dr. Hiram W. Evans, charged with conspiracy to defraud the state, a Fulton superior court jury late yesterday was still unable to reach a verdict.

Shortly before 5 o'clock, a spokesman for the jury notified a court attendant the jury room was hot and the jurors weary. The attendant communicated with Judge Virlyn B. Moore, who ordered the jury to be taken to a hotel for another night. It will resume consideration of the case this morning.

As the day drew on without a decision, observers believed that an acquittal, or a mistrial, was near. A rumor went round the court house the jury stood 10 to 2 for acquittal. But they were puzzled as the end of the second day brought no news from the jury room.

Major Andrew Duncan Missing Near Tobruk

CAIRO, Egypt, June 10.—(AP)—Major Andrew Duncan, 22, South African Air Force squadron leader and son of Sir Patrick Duncan, governor general of the Union of South Africa, was reported missing today after an engagement with enemy fighters over El Adem, 15 miles south of Tobruk, May 31.

Frozen Plumbing Blocks FHA; Got Cash, But Need Priorities

By LAMAR Q. BALL.

Federal Housing Administration officials from 13 states and the District of Columbia gathered in a shirt-sleeved clinic at the Biltmore hotel yesterday to discuss an immediate emergency. They want to use what little they have at their command to win back their bureau's old-time spot in the sun among its fellow war agencies.

Money is no problem with the FHA. Congress has recently voted $500,000,000 additional for its work, but FHA is one of the first government agencies beginning to learn, most bitterly, that money is not everything—that an occasional bathtub, kitchen sink and other of the homey articles of plumbing, are more essential than a mortgage.

In the center of Room 14 sat John G. Rouse, of Washington, deputy commissioner of FHA's Zone 2, of which Georgia is a part.

The sessions were decidedly executive as Rouse struggled to construct the problems of Forms PD-

Entire Czech Village Wiped Out by Nazis For Heydrich Death

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LONDON, June 10.—German vengeance squads utterly wiped out Lidice, a Czech village of 1,200 persons today, killing all the men and deporting the women and children, on the ground that the population harbored the two assassins of Reinhard Heydrich, the late German ruler of Bohemia-Moravia.

City Workers' Pay Increases Appear Doomed

By FRANK DRAKE.

Continuance of a 10 per cent increase in salaries for approximately 4,000 city and school department employees for the last half of 1942 appeared yesterday to be headed out the window, the city's financial wizards reported.

It would take $346,000 to give all the employees the 10 per cent hike they enjoyed during the first half of the year—and B. Graham West, city comptroller, says flatly that the city hasn't got the money and can't get it without "draining the barrel to the last drop."

And this latter is not likely to be done—because of the emergency the city may have to face in case the town is struck by an air raid or any other emergency that might come as the result of this all-out war.

Gloomy Picture.

Mayor Hartsfield was out of the city yesterday and could not be reached for comment on the matter of continuing the 10 per cent increase which was granted through June 30 during Roy LeCraw's administration. What his position will be remains to be seen.

It will be a gloomy picture he gets from Comptroller West and from T. W. Clift, business manager of the school department. Clift Tuesday told the board of education the school department could not continue its present financial position without running a deficit, and the board resolved to ask city council to give that department the $178,000 needed to hold for the last six months.

West said he had been querying city department heads to see if they could transfer enough allocated funds to raise the $168,000 necessary to hold the 10 per cent raise for the city employees.

No More Money.

"The replies thus far indicate we cannot even raise the $168,000 that would be required for the city employees and the school department employees too," he declared.

The comptroller added that no more money can be obtained by the city through increased taxes, since the budget law will not allow a change in the anticipations after the budget is set. He asserted the extra mill now levied above the regular city tax rate is by law usable only for capital improvements, emergencies, and to maintain the law assessing the mill was passed.

The positions of the employees' unions and the teachers' association have not been brought out as yet—but it was indicated they will ask that some increase be continued because of the increase in the cost of living.

WPB Approves Construction of New Pipe Line

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(AP)—The War Production Board gave permission today for the immediate construction of an oil pipeline from Longview, Texas, to Salem, Ill., to increase the petroleum flow to the east but gave no indication that it would bring any relaxation of the gasoline rationing in the Atlantic states.

The board announced that the pipeline would provide "an increased supply of oil to the east coast area within six months," but Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the WPB, said it probably would be used primarily for fuel oil and secondarily for gasoline.

Nothing was said about the probable effect on the rationing program but abandonment of the rationing was viewed as unlikely, particularly in view of the campaign to reduce the use of tires.

350,000 Barrels.

The 550-mile pipeline will deliver 350,000 barrels of oil daily to the Salem area, from where most of it will be transported by tank cars, barges, Great Lakes carriers and other facilities to the eastern shortage area.

The line is expected to be completed by December 1. Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the WPB said construction would start immediately.

Seamless steel tubing will be used instead of steel plate badly needed for shipbuilding and the construction of critical materials will be reduced additionally by the substitution of cast iron for steel in some places.

The action came after the WPB at least three times previously had refused priorities on steel for a 1,500-mile pipeline from Texas to New York.

Shorter Line.

The decision to build the shorter line, which will require 125,000 tons of finished steel as against 400,000 tons for the longer line, was made by WPB after a special committee created by Nelson reported the line "could be built with a minimum of disturbance to the war production program" and could start delivering oil within half a year.

"It (the WPB) took this action after considering the changed situation with respect to oil tankers and military requirements," Nelson said, "and after receiving assurances that prompt construction of the line will not interfere with delivery of steel or motor equipment orders for the War and Navy Departments or for the Maritime Commission's shipbuilding program."

Other institutions to benefit eventually are Wesleyan College, the First Presbyterian church and the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee school.

Incomplete Returns To Nimitz Disclose Staggering Losses

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii, June 10.—The Japanese force which Americans defeated at Midway was an armada of more than 30 warships and perhaps half of them became casualties in the first three days of battle, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the United States Pacific fleet, disclosed today.

Information released by Nimitz indicated that thousands of the enemy must have perished. Japanese ships were sunk or damaged so rapidly and the invading fleet was on the run to such an extent that the Nipponese did not stop to pick up their men who had been cast into the sea.

This huge invading force, it was said, was in addition to the undisclosed number of ships sent against Dutch Harbor about the same time.

The Battle of Midway moved so rapidly that the final returns still are not scored. It ended, for the time being at least, Saturday night when pursuing American forces lost the Japanese fleet remnants in the darkness.

Until the final accounting the score as reported by Admiral Nimitz, stands at two and perhaps three Japanese aircraft carriers sunk, with all of their planes; one destroyer sunk and three battleships and eight to 11 other ships damaged.

Nimitz reported the loss of one American destroyer, damaged to one United States aircraft carrier and the loss of an undisclosed number of planes.

"The Japanese have admitted the loss of one aircraft carrier, damaged to another carrier and a cruiser, and 35 planes missing. In turn they asserted they had sunk two 19,900-ton American aircraft carriers, one transport and shot down 135 United States planes."

Jap Communique 'Explains' Battle

By The Associated Press.

In a skillfully prepared communique, the Japanese imperial command tried to make it appear last night that the Japanese navy had got the best of the U. S. fleet, although at considerable cost, in the Battle of Midway.

Then it injected a curious claim—categorically refuted in Washington—of continuing Japanese troop operations in some part of the far-flung Aleutian islands.

Still later, a Japanese naval spokesman spoke of how the Japanese were able to "occupy western Aleutian islands" because of the naval engagement off Midway.

First Inking.

The communique, first inking the Japanese people had received that its naval forces had been engaged in two major operations, stated that one Japanese aircraft carrier had been sunk, one heavily damaged and one cruiser.

Atlantan Receives Girls' State Office

Delegates to Girls' State, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary at Georgia Military Academy, yesterday elected Jean Martin, of Fitzgerald, for their governor of Georgia Girl State for 1942. Judge Nash Broyles will give the oath of office to the new governor and her staff at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at the state capitol. The governor's ball will be held at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night at G. M. A.

Other major officers elected are: Secretary of state, Tosca Harris, of College Park; state treasurer, Florena Stewart, of Atlanta; attorney general, Martha Carpenter, of Milledgeville; comptroller general, Mary Northcutt, of College Park.

COME AND GET IT, YOU JAPS!—The kids in Peachtree Hills already are practicing for the day when they can let the Japs have it. The miniature Marines are getting ready to shoot their "Big Bertha" home-made cannon that fires crabapples. Left to right are Ralph Langford Jr., Dickie Pierce, Buddy Gordon (back) and Doris Pierce.

Peachtree Hills Marines Land; Britain's King Drainpipe Cannon Play Havoc Chats With Men On U. S. Vessels

By AL SHARP.

The Peachtree Hills Marines have landed and the situation is well out of hand.

Eleven youngsters in the neighborhood of 2171 Fairhaven circle, where their "general," Ralph Langford Jr., lives, are carrying on an all-out war with cannon built of drain pipe and large rubber bands.

The Langford home is not quite in a state of siege, but it's close. Mrs. Langford declared yesterday, "I do a little reconnaissance before going out," she said, declaring that playing target for the crabapples the cannon fire isn't much fun.

One of the cannon is a mobile unit, having wheels attached to its wooden structure while the other is for defensive blasting at given targets—pedestrians, for instance. "Battle stations!" shouts Ralph, and the war is on. "Lower the

Martin Is Granted Month's Respite

A month's respite has been granted Charles Martin, who had been under sentence to die Friday for the murder of his estranged wife.

A petition filed by 2,000 citizens of DeKalb and Fulton counties and a plea from several ministers aided Martin's attorney, James R. Venable, to obtain the Governor's approval for a delay until a hearing could probe into the final facts of the case of the condemned man.

The hearing, it was said yesterday, has been scheduled for 11 a. m., February 19. Martin was arrested early in February, 1941, a few days after his pretty young wife, Mrs. Dorothy Bryant Martin, died of stab wounds.

Powerful U. S. Task Unit Joins Britain's Fleet

Arctic route to Russia observers have been expecting the German warships to make a desperate effort to cut the supply line in what probably would be the biggest naval engagement of the war in European waters.

Welcomed by Stark.

Admiral Harold R. Stark, commander of United States naval forces in European waters, personally welcomed the United States task force, which is under his direct command.

Admiral Giffin, in an official statement after the colorful ceremony in which King George inspected the American ships, said the king had sent the following message:

"It has given me great pleasure to have had this opportunity of visiting the United States ships and thus being enabled to meet some officers and men of the United States Navy task force of the home fleet.

"I have been deeply impressed by the smart and efficient appearance of the ships and ships' companies and I congratulate you and all those under your command upon the alert and cheerful spirit with which you are undertaking your duties in the common cause.

"The enjoyment of my visit has been much enhanced by the presence of Admiral Stark. I send you and your officers and men my best wishes for a safe return to your homes when victory is won."

Two Georgia Fugitives To Be Returned to State

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 10.—(AP)—United States Commissioner Lee Brock said today that two Georgia chain gang fugitives, Gilmore L. Wiswell and John L. Skinner, had waived extradition proceedings and would be returned to Georgia to face federal kidnapping charges.

Wiswell, of Auburn Maine, and Skinner, of Savannah, Ga., are being held on $10,000 bonds pending their removal to Georgia, the commissioner declared.

'Great Moment of Naval History' as George VI Visits Craft.

UNITED STATES TASK FORCE BASE IN BRITAIN, June 11 (Thursday).—(AP)—For the first time in the war the King of England has visited United States warships in British waters. He was received with the old-time nautical ceremony of the world's two greatest naval powers blended with the easy democracy of the nations these ships defend.

King George VI first was piped aboard one of the United States' most modern cruisers, then went in Read Admiral Robert Giffin's flagship, enroute to a great American battleship.

He made the minute inspection of a man who knows ships and has served aboard them, chatted and joked with officers and men alike, and ranged the ships from officers' wardrooms to seamen's messes and the sick bays. He poked into big gun turrets and watched the long naval rifles swung and elevated.

Great Moment.

"It was a great moment of naval history," commented one observer. "It meant the wedding of the two great navies in the world—right in the face of the Axis."

As the King was piped aboard the cruiser, United States seamen stood at attention, a Marine guard outside even its traditional smartness in presenting arms, and the band struck up "God Save the King."

High overhead the white ensign of the Royal Navy floated from the mainmast in honor of the King, with the Stars and Stripes broken out below it from the gaff.

Admiral Giffin introduced the King to the ship's officers. After that the inspection of the ship's company progressed slowly as his majesty stopped time after time to talk to the seamen.

Inspecting the crew's quarters, the King expressed surprise and pleasure at the luxury of the fittings.

Later, touring the battleship with Admiral Stark, the King expressed astonishment at the completeness of the sick bay with its array of surgical instruments, huge laundry and six-chair barber shop.

At a luncheon Admiral Giffin gave for the King and his staff of officers including Admiral John C. Tovey, commander of the British home fleet, there were individual cakes decorated with the crossed ensigns of the United States and the Royal Navies.

Cake for Princesses.

Giffin presented the King with another cake, more than two feet high, which the ship's chef cooked for Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose.

"He talked to me as one sailor to another," Giffin said after the King's visit. "He liked our ships, liked the cut of our jibs, and liked the way they are kept shipshape and Bristol fashion."

There is an American atmosphere these days even in British warships now that the American task force has joined the home fleet. Every morning the "Star-Spangled Banner" is played after "God Save the King."

Aviation Given 15-to-25 Year Boost by War

50-Passenger Planes To Be Common, Editor Predicts.

Atlanta will be within 48 hours of every important city in the world when the war ends, Wayne Parrish, editor of American Aviation, predicted yesterday on his arrival here from Washington.

"The war has moved aviation ahead 15 or 25 years," Parrish said, "and developments are moving so fast that they are hard to keep up with."

"Planes carrying 40 and 50 passengers or the equivalent weight in freight will become common after the war, and one company is figuring on a 75-passenger line."

"I'm not speculating when I say that planes will cruise at 280 miles per hour, instead of the present 165. It takes about 5 1/2 hours to go from here to New York now, so you can see how much closer it will bring Atlanta to that city."

Loss Importance.

"Atlanta will be a port on the air ocean, and seaports will lose their importance. Why fly freight to Charleston and load it aboard a ship there? Freight will be flown from here to where it's going."

Parrish, who will speak at 12:15 o'clock today at the Ansley hotel, said developments during the war are fantastic. "The future of aviation about which so many have talked is here," he declared.

"Forty-five thousand planes will carry all the freight in the United States," Parrish said, "and with production what it is today—60,000 planes this year and 125,000 in 1943—aviation can handle all transportation in the nation, including freight, railroads, etc."

No Limits.

Planes carrying 50 passengers on trips within the United States will be large enough, Parrish said. He did not see any use for planes as large as ocean liners, although he pointed out that there are no limits to the size of a ship.

"There will be enough planes of the 50-passenger size to take care of all needs," Parrish said.

In line with the development of larger planes, Parrish stated that new wing designs have made it possible to land big planes on airports even smaller than the average one in America today.

Parrish is speaking here under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce's forum committee. Tickets may be bought at the door, and the public is invited. Leaders in aviation in this area have been extended special invitations to hear the editor, who is considered one of the world's foremost authorities on aviation.

A Little Want Ad in The Constitution does many a BIG job.

THE FUTURE OF AVIATION IS HERE—Wayne Parrish, editor of American Aviation (left), believes the future of aviation is here, and he's telling C. E. Woolman, vice president and general manager of Delta Air Lines, about it. Parrish will speak at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon.

Japanese Using Germs in War Against China

Relief Worker Charges Nipponese Trying To Start Epidemics.

NEW YORK, June 10.—(AP)—Japan has waged "germ warfare" against China for the last six months, Robert Barnett, United China Relief representative, said today.

Barnett, who has just returned from China, said he had "documentary proof" that bubonic germs had been spread by the Japanese "frequently in the last six months," particularly in Hunan and Chekiang provinces.

Though some deaths resulted, Barnett said, there were no widespread epidemics.

The Chinese, cut off from American medical supplies since the blocking of Burma Road, "have begun to manufacture their own vaccines and serums against typhoid, typhus and bubonic plague, in a plant set up with United China funds," he said.

This effort at self-sufficiency is typical of China since loss of "the road," Barnett said.

"The attack on Tokyo was a shot in the arm for Chinese morale," said Barnett, "and while the need for relief is great, the people feel that real relief can come only with victory and that victory is possible only if military supplies come through."

In their new isolation, the Chinese are improvising the tools they need, Barnett said.

"I saw doctors in the medical center at Kwei Yang using improvised surgical scissors and forceps, handhammered out of automobile scrap."

Retail Grocers Want To Do Own 'Policing'

CHICAGO, June 10.—(AP)—The National Association of Retail Grocers, serving notice that it did not want "an army of snoots" in American stores, asked the government today to trust retail merchants with enforcement of the restrictions on food prices.

The organization adopted a resolution calling upon congress to refuse the Office of Price Administration's request for funds which it claimed would be used "to add more than 100,000 new employees—largely enforcement personnel—to the OPA payroll."

MacDougall To Be Regional FWA Director

Assistant Commissioner of WPA To Take Over Office Here.

Robert L. MacDougall, of old Campbell county, assistant commissioner and chief engineer of the Works Progress Administration, yesterday was appointed Federal Works Administration director for the southeastern region, effective July 1.

Henry L. Badoux, of Nashville, now serving as assistant regional director, will act as director until arrival of MacDougall, attaches of the FWA headquarters here said. The southeastern region, which has headquarters in Atlanta, tentatively comprises Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Florida. A graduate of Georgia Tech, MacDougall engaged in private construction business until 1933, when he entered government work. He has served as director of operations in Georgia, technical director of the $18,000,000 project for the Atlanta Housing Authority, Georgia WPA administrator and WPA regional director for the southeast.

He became assistant commissioner in Washington and chief of the agency's operations division in May, 1941.

Lester M. Marx, regional engineer here, has been sent to Boston as acting regional director. Rolling Ritter, associate regional engineer, is acting regional engineer in the absence of Marx.

The 49-year-old jurist explained the unprecedented action by disclosing that he had obtained a four-month leave from the supreme court, now in summer session. His recent plans—which he said might be changed—were to return to the bench at the expiration of that period.

The justice was sworn in by Major General James A. Ulio, the adjutant general, in the office of General George C. Marshall.

To Aid Marshall.
Murphy told reporters that he had wanted to get into the Army ever since the outbreak of the war, last December 7, and disclosed he would leave immediately for Fort Benning, Ga. There he said, he would take an intensive six-week training course, following which he will be assigned to an armored force.

Murphy's public career dates from the first World War in which he served overseas as a captain in the Eighty-fifth Division. It was climaxed February 5, 1940, when President Roosevelt appointed him to the supreme court to succeed the late Justice Pierce Butler, of Minnesota.

During the intervening years, the bachelor jurist served successively as judge of the Detroit records court, mayor of Detroit, United States high commissioner to the Philippines, Governor of Michigan and attorney general in the Roosevelt cabinet.

Closest Precedent.
The closest precedent for Murphy's action within the memory of present court attaches is believed to have been Justice Roberts' temporary absence from the bench last December to conduct an investigation into the Pearl Harbor disaster.

At the request of President Roosevelt, Justice Roberts headed a board of Army and Naval officers sent to Hawaii to make a personal inquiry into the responsibility for the success of a Japanese surprise attack on the Pacific stronghold.

In the earliest days of the court, John Jay remained on the bench while conducting an unsuccessful campaign for the governorship of New York. Two years later, in 1794, he was appointed special ambassador to England to negotiate an Anglo-American treaty.

Chief Justice Oliver Ellsworth, head of the court from 1796 to 1800, went to France in 1799 as a special envoy of President John Adams.

Murphy was born in a one-room cabin at Harbor Beach, Mich., April 13, 1893, the son of a country lawyer.

No Assurance Of Sufficient Fuel Oil Supply

Eastern Seaboard Warned Needs May Not Be Met.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(AP)—There is no assurance that sufficient fuel oil can be transported to the eastern seaboard for the needs of all consumers in that area during the winter, Petroleum Co-ordinator Ickes has advised Senator Reynolds, Democrat, North Carolina.

Reynolds had asked Ickes to outline the fuel oil situation. "I regret that I can give no assurance that sufficient fuel oil can be transported to the eastern seaboard to take care of all the needs of the fuel oil consumers in this area during the coming winter," Ickes wrote in reply.

"I am aware of the serious implications of such a shortage of fuel oil and this office, in co-operation with other governmental agencies and the petroleum industry, is making every effort to increase to a maximum the flow of fuel oil to the east."

Ickes said considerable success has been achieved in substituting other methods of transporting oil to replace the tank ships ordinarily employed.

The desirability of early conversion of oil equipment so as to burn coal or wood was stressed by Ickes, together with early accumulation of stockpiles to prevent later overtaxing of transport facilities.

Rally Here Seeks Volunteer Nurses For Emergency

By FRANK DIAKE.

Wanted: War nurses! Short, fat, stocky ones. Long, tall, lanky ones. Blond nurses. Redheaded nurses, and any mixture in between. The armed services need them all and the call for nurses and more nurses went out at a round-robin meeting sponsored by the Fifth District Nursing Council for War Service last night at the Crawford W. Long nurses' home on West Peachtree street.

4 Atlantans Take Offices in OES

Four Atlantans were among officers installed last night by the Grand Chapter of Georgia, Order of the Eastern Star, at the closing session of the 41st annual meeting in Macon.

Frank Morrison is associate grand patron; Mrs. Kate Massey, grand conductress; Mrs. Thelma Thrasher, Adah, and Mrs. Neva Settles, Electra.

Mrs. Margaret Lane, of St. Simons, was installed as worthy grand patron.

S.S.S. helps build STURDY HEALTH

Speakers representing all phases of the United States' gigantic war effort took the platform to tell of the urgency of getting ever greater numbers of trained nurses registered for Army service, for Navy service and for civilian defense service.

Registration booths were all around for nurses to choose their branch and step forth. Many of the several hundred at the meeting did immediately.

Attractive Uniforms. Captain Mary Gavin, R. N., Army Nurse Corps, Fourth Corps Area, was there with an appeal for volunteers for the Army service and she was backed up by a corps of snappy-looking female lieutenants who came in from Fort McPherson and Lawson General hospital and showed the girls how attractive the new Army uniforms are now.

It was a mosaic of the need for nurses presented by the speakers. Dr. Henry Poer and Captain E. R. Watson told how registered nurses will be needed to supervise first aiders and the nursing in case of bombings.

Mrs. Sue B. Paille explained how the Red Cross nursing service fits into the picture, and Mrs. Mildred Sasset, R. N., told the part home nursing will play. Miss Zella Bryant, U. S. Public Health Department nursing consultant, explained the consulting service tie-up, and Oby Brewer, chairman of the Atlanta chapter, Red Cross elaborated on its nurses' duties.

Phillips Speaks. George M. Phillips, head of the district O. C. D., H. M. Chester, supervisor of personnel examinations, State Health Department, and representatives of the Army Chemical Warfare Service, the city fire department, and others made brief talks, too, all pushing the importance of trained nurses in this emergency.

Speakers appealed to registered nurses who are now "inactive," married, retired or working in other employment, to register for volunteer work, and they pleaded for all nurses to make themselves available for service should an air raid come.

First aid training for the civilian population is necessary and desirable, Dr. Poer pointed out, but he added: "You can't make a doctor or a nurse with 20 or 30 hours' study."

Work done by the first aiders will be directed largely by registered nurses who have had years of training, he said.

Florrie Lee Erb, R. N., acting president of the nursing council for war service, presided.

Plumbing Lack Is Bemoaned at FHA Parley

ed FHA officials are honor bound to sit in utter silence as pleading contractors pass in procession.

From Federal Housing Commissioner Abner H. Ferguson, in Washington, came the word:

"Every precaution must be taken to avoid the possibility of misconstruing the recent amendments to the national housing act making available substantial new funds for continued private building of war housing in designated critical areas. They must not be construed as encouragement to begin construction without reasonable assurance materials are available for its completion."

Until WPB begins to allocate the available plumbing, houses can be built under FHA financing, but they must be whipped together by architects with such novel features as no baths and no sewerage. What effect that will have on the esprit de corps of the modern American family is not known.

The four days the FHA state directors, underwriters and architects will remain in session will find them working out the best answers to the problems of Form PD-1040, and the others, if things were as they should be. A bit of mindreading is being attempted on the WPB ideas.

Meanwhile, back home in the agencies, loans on houses already built will be renewed, repairs not involving any of the priorities products will be shoved through with facility.

The representatives in meeting here are from Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee and Kentucky.

MARRIED MEN ON LIST.

Contract Given To Build 24 Concrete Ships

More Freighters May Be Constructed If Test Proves Successful.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(AP) The Maritime Commission turned today to concrete ships to provide sorely needed tonnage for the war effort.

Representative Peterson, Democrat, Florida, announced the commission had awarded a $30,000,000 contract for the construction of 24 self-propelled concrete freighters. They will be built near Tampa, Fla., Peterson said.

To be used for general cargo carrying, the concrete vessels will be steam-propelled. Presumably they will be used for purposes for which steel freighters are normally assigned, and not designed for inland waterway use.

Concrete freighters were built during the World War period, but were not regarded in maritime exports as successful. For one thing, experts said, their excessive weight greatly reduced carrying capacity. They were somewhat "brittle."

Since then, however, much progress has been made in concrete construction, and commission officials were understood to feel the vessels would not have the disadvantages of those of 25 years ago.

The contract was reported to be regarded by commission officials as an experiment to determine whether to expand concrete construction in view of the critical steel situation.

Peterson said the contract called for work to start immediately and for all 24 concrete vessels to be completed by June 30, 1943.

Red Cross Officer Visits Units Here

Miss Catherine M. Leamy, American Red Cross director of nutrition service for the east, yesterday visited the Atlanta Red Cross chapter to inspect the progress of the nutrition program here. She was told by Mrs. Turner E. Smith, volunteer in charge of nutrition teaching, that the Georgia Red Cross chapter already had certified more than 150 graduate home economists with teaching experience to conduct the course and that more than 2,000 women had received certificates.

Nutrition class are now being organized to meet the needs of elementary teachers, Mrs. Smith said. Miss Leamy will speak at the state nutrition meeting in Macon.

Gallup Poll Reveals:

Sixth of Dairy Farmers Favor Lewis Move To Start New Union

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 10.—If the prices of all farm products were fixed at current levels and remained there, the majority of farmers throughout the country would be satisfied.

An Institute poll of farmers in all the 48 states shows that, nearly twice as many say they are satisfied as say they are dissatisfied with current prices for their main cash crop.

The ones who are least satisfied are the dairy farmers, of whom about half—52 per cent—say they are satisfied with dairy prices, while 45 per cent are not satisfied. This may be one reason why a higher proportion of dairy farmers than of other farmers favor John L. Lewis's move to organize a dairy farm union.

The dairy farmer's attitude toward the Lewis organizing drive was revealed in interviews with a representative sample of that group throughout the country. Results follow:

Dairy Farmers.
Favor Lewis Union 16%
Opposed 74%
Undecided 10%

Among all farmers as a group the percentage favoring the union is lower—14 per cent.

While even the majority of dairy farmers are opposed, nevertheless if the one in every six who favors the movement actually joined up with Lewis, he would have a union of sizable proportions.

JOHN L. LEWIS.
The farmers who are most satisfied with their current prices, the poll found, are the pork producers, who have enjoyed a substantial price increase in recent months.

The Price Situation.
Every farmer interviewed was asked whether, in his opinion, the price he is now getting for his chief crop or product is a fair price.

Results are:

	Satisfied With Present Price	Dissatisfied	Undecided
Dairy Farmers	52%	45%	3%
Wheat Farmers	52	43	5
Cotton Farmers	57	31	12
Corn Farmers	67	25	8
Hog Farmers	87	9	4
Others	55	20	25
All Farmers	58	28	14

The amount of satisfaction today is considerably greater than it was in a similar study two years ago. In the spring of 1940 the Institute found that only about one-third of farmers interviewed were satisfied with their crop prices at that time, as compared to 58 per cent today.

Farmer's Idea.
The farmers' idea of fair prices have remained fairly stable in recent years. The prices they are satisfied with today are, in most cases, the prices they said two years ago they would consider fair.

For example, cotton farmers interviewed in 1940 said they would consider 15c a pound a fair price.

DeKalb County Men in Service To Be Honored

Last Man Club Will Unveil Bulletin Board July 4.

A bulletin board honor roll showing the names of DeKalb county men now in active service will be unveiled at public exercises Saturday, July 4, on the courthouse grounds at Decatur.

Presented by Decatur's Last Man Club, of the veterans of the first World War, the board will be unveiled by DeKalb county Gold Star Mothers. Approximately 2,400 names of DeKalb county men will appear.

In order to avoid the omission of any possible names, the club asks the families of men in the service to communicate with them, and give full names of the men, residence addresses, date of entry into the Army, and age at entry. Letters should be addressed to The Last Man Club, Decatur, Ga.

Civilian Defense School Will Open

Atlanta's first state school for Civilian Defense instructors will open Monday at the Georgia Tech Y. M. C. A., George M. (Pup) Phillips, director for the metropolitan area, announced yesterday.

Between 200 and 300 from five counties in the area are expected to attend the three-day school which will qualify students as instructors in all phases of Civilian Defense work except first aid.

The school is sponsored by the regional, state and metropolitan offices and the American Legion.

Ceiling Prices Affect Georgia Farm Products

ATHENS, Ga., July 10.—(P)—Ceiling prices on processed commodities are indirectly affecting about 40 per cent of the state's farm products, the Georgia Crop Reporting Service said today.

The general maximum price regulation announced by the OPA April 28 had little, if any, effect on the mid-May local market price situation, the service reported.

Prices of only a few of the commodities usually sold by farmers are covered directly by the price ceilings.

"However," the report added, "by placing ceilings on prices of processed commodities the maximum price regulations are now indirectly affecting about 60 per cent of the farm products entering into the index of prices received by farmers."

The general price index on May 15 showed farm products advanced about one point during the month. This was due to improved prices for meat animals, chickens and eggs, fruit and the grain group. Cotton and cottonseed showed a reduction of one point with dairy and miscellaneous products remaining unchanged from the previous month.

Figures compiled by the service showed Georgia farmers collected $54 a ton for cottonseed this year, compared to $36 per ton paid on May 15 last year; 19 cents per pound for cotton, compared to 12.3 cents last year; $1.19 for a bushel of wheat compared to $1.01 last year and $1.01 per bushel for corn against 77 cents last year.

Other comparisons with this year's price listed first, included: Irish potatoes $1.40 per bushel and $1.00; cottonseed, per ton, $54 and $36; hay, ton $13.20 and $12.50; hogs, per 100 pounds, $12 and $7.60; beef cattle $10.20 and $6.90 per hundred pounds; milk cows, head $62 and $45; mules $164 and $146.

Hugh H. Bennett Will Speak Today

Hugh H. Bennett, chief of the United States Soil Conservation Service, Washington, will speak at 1 o'clock this afternoon at a Food for Defense luncheon of Georgia bankers and agricultural workers at the Atlanta Athletic Club. The occasion is a joint conference of the executive council and agricultural committee of the Georgia Bankers Association, the Atlanta Clearing House Association, and the Georgia State Agricultural Council.

J. P. Culpepper, president of the Georgia bankers, will preside. Adjustment of Georgia's agriculture to war and post-war conditions will be discussed after the luncheon. Later the agricultural committee of the bankers will go into executive session. The state council will hold an executive session on routine business before the luncheon.

Nazis Launch New Kharkov Offensive As Sevastopol Holds

MOSCOW, Thursday, June 11.—German troops have started another offensive on the Kharkov front after last month's heavy fighting in which the Nazis had claimed the "annihilation" of three entire Red armies, the Soviets announced early today.

Tokyo Raiders Didn't Expect To Come Back

Doolittle Reveals Fliers Were Surprised at No Opposition.

MERIDAN, Miss., June 10.—(AP) Brigadier General James Doolittle today said that the men who made up the raid he led on Tokyo expected to be met by 500 planes and that the American volunteers did not expect to return alive, but said instead the Japanese showed little inclination to resist.

He visited Colonel W. B. Wright, commander of Key field and an old classmate at Boston Tech, here today.

He said the Japanese either dreaded encounter with the Americans, were stunned by their complacent feeling that "it can't happen here," or that the air raiding system failed, because the defense planes failed to appear. He said his planes could have been rammed but that the Japanese apparently lacked any suicidal spirit.

He added the anti-aircraft fire was so ineffective that some of the Japanese barrage balloons were shot down.

RAIN HALTS WORK.

MONTEZUMA, Ga., June 10.—Frequent showers this week harassed peach packers and grain growers. New packing regulations forbade the shipping of any but perfectly dry fruit, and the drenched trees have hardly time to dry off before another shower comes. Combine-owning farmers who have taken contracts to put grain in their territory are in a quandary. The boll weevil is the only one "making hay."

Japs By-Pass Chuhsien, Open Pincers Drive

Chinese Slash at Flanks of Invaders Over Wide Area.

CHUNGKING, June 10.—(AP)—Japanese forces which have lost thousands of men in attempts to capture the key Chekiang province, rail center of Chuhsien, were reported tonight to have by-passed the city and pushed nearly 12 miles beyond it.

This Japanese army pushing westward along the important Nanchang-Hangchow railway thus moved to within approximately 170 miles of a sister force moving eastward along the railway through Kiangsi province.

However, as these spearheads approached each other like the points of calipers, the Chinese fell in behind the advancing invaders and cut at their flanks in heavy fighting spread over a vast area. Japanese gains apparently were being made only at great cost.

The high command, without stating whether Chuhsien had fallen, said that fierce fighting was raging east of the town of Chengshan, which is 12 miles west of Chuhsien. Previously the Chinese had told of inflicting casualties totaling 18,000 on the Japanese as the invaders failed to take the walled city, virtually surrounded now for more than a week.

The Japanese force in Kiangsi, pushing eastward along the railway, meanwhile remained in the vicinity of Tungshang, 75 miles southeast of Nanchang.

correspondents wireless to the army organ Red Star, although it was conceded that the Germans had effected a penetration of the hilly sector at a point where they still are trying to take two heights.

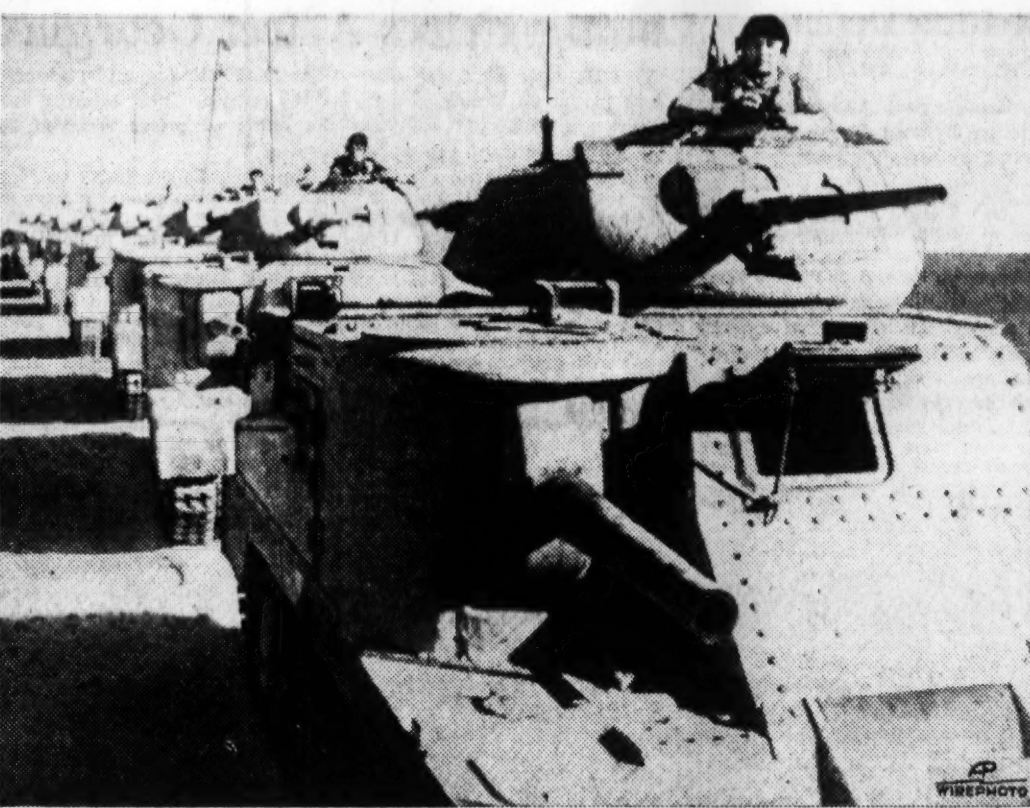

Battering Ram.

The battle had developed into a series of German battering-ram attacks against the solid Russian fortifications. In previous battles the Germans have been able to maintain such assaults for a period of only two or three weeks, after which they were forced to pause for rest and reorganization. How long they are capable of continuing the present attack remains to be seen.

Enemy planes broke through at some points to bomb the fortifications, the Sevastopol dispatches said, and the German infantry attacks maintained their ferocity.

Along the rim of low, rolling hills which surrounds the city the approaches to the Red Army fortifications were described as littered with thousands of bodies, over which the Germans were rushing forward repeatedly.

After taking the Kerch peninsula at the eastern end of the Crimea last month, the German command aimed apparently at the conquest of Sevastopol, naval base at the western extremity, in order to complete the occupation of the Crimea at any cost.

British Tanks Speed to Relief Of Free French

Defenders of Bir Hacheim Stand Fast After 2 Weeks' Siege.

By EDWARD KENNEDY.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY ON THE LIBYAN DESERT FRONT, June 10.—(AP)—A British armored column with artillery and infantry collided with Axis forces east of Bir Hacheim at dawn today to relieve pressure on that besieged Free French fortress which has withstood a steady two-week battering.

Axis land and air forces smashed against the stronghold yesterday with redoubled fury—on direct orders from Berlin and Rome, it was reported by prisoners taken by the British.

Hitler and Mussolini—apparently annoyed by the brilliant defense of the inland anchor of the British desert line by soldiers of a country they thought they had made impotent, sent orders that the post must be taken at any cost.

With Tank Unit.

Right now I'm with a British tank unit ranging ahead of the 25-pounders of an artillery detachment. Several miles across a no man's land ahead are German tanks and German 88s. Still farther in the haze is Bir Hacheim and its gallant Free French who have been almost encircled several times, but still is holding out grimly.

Two women are in the oasis stronghold which is surrounded by a perimeter of land mines. One is the wife of a French army doctor who is herself a physician. The other is an Australian nurse married to a French officer.

The only newspaperman with the defenders is Jean Pierre Bernard, former Havas correspondent in Washington from 1935 to 1937 who now represents the official Free French press service.

He's been there for three months, but has been unable to dispatch

Federal Job Buying Indictments Quashed

Indictments against Hulon Holcomb, J. H. Holcomb and Paul Grogan, charging them with offering Congressman Frank Whelchel $1,100 for rural post office routes in Ball Ground, were nol prossed by Judge E. Marvin Underwood in federal court yesterday.

The defendants were indicted last May on charges of attempting to purchase appointive jobs from the congressman. Whelchel was acquitted of charges of selling the jobs.

A story since the big attacks began. As many as 50 Nazi Junkers bombers rained bombs on the Bir Hacheim defenders yesterday. Forty Stuka dive-bombers also assaulted them without turning this Free French flank.

Axis tank formations drawn from the battlefields farther north did get inside the ring of mines last Sunday, but the French artillery and machinegun fire repulsed them.

Nothing Decisive.

The fact that the Axis forces now are between us and Bir Hacheim doesn't mean anything decisive in this desert war. Because, west of the French post, South African armored units and the British King's Dragoon Guards are well behind the Axis lines disrupting supplies and fighting tank battles at every opportunity.

Thirty miles to the north the British Durham light infantry also made a thrust from the Gazala line and captured several hundred prisoners behind the Axis lines there. Those captured mostly were from the Italian Pavia and Brescia divisions.

Thus the desert merry-go-round continues with the encirclers frequently becoming surrounded themselves.

Officers on the spot said the next few days, however, were expected to be decisive at Bir Hacheim, and with that in mind not only British tank reinforcements were rushing into the area, but the RAF also has blasted Axis supply lines.

"Cauldron" Area.

To the north there was little activity in the "cauldron" area. The Germans earlier had made a gap in the British mine field west of Knightsbridge. Now an artillery duel is the main engagement.

Here before Bir Hacheim two Messerschmitts equipped for bombing dropped two anti-personnel bombs without effect.

At another place in the desert I came across two dead giants—the "General Grant" tanks supplied by the United States.

Each must have taken a half dozen direct hits at fairly close range. They bore only small dents since some shells had bounced off, but in each case a shell from a German 88 gun had penetrated their side to explode and kill the crews.

American observers are examining every damaged tank to learn what they can.

Spy Activities Charged to Five In Indictments

Ring Furnished Military Information to Axis, True Bills Say.

HARTFORD, Conn., June 10.—(AP)—Three German-born Americans, a native-born ex-leader of the now defunct German-American Bund and a White Russian with a bitter hatred of the Soviet, were indicted today by a federal grand jury which charged them with membership in a spy ring furnishing military information to Germany and Japan.

The accused, including Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, former Bund head, whose whereabouts are unknown, and Anastase Vonsiatky, of Thompson, Conn., world leader of a national Russian revolutionary Fascist party, were indicted on a charge of conspiracy to violate the 1917 espionage act.

The jury also indicted Dr. Otto Willumeit, chief of the Chicago division of the Bund; Dr. Wolfgang Ebell, an El Paso, Texas, physician now interned as an enemy alien; and the Rev. Kurt B. Molzahn, Philadelphia clergyman.

Only Two in Court.

Only Vonsiatky, arrested by federal agents Saturday in Providence, R. I., and Dr. Willumeit, summoned here by subpoena, were in Hartford when the indictment was handed up.

They pleaded innocent and were held in $25,000 bail with no date set for their trial. Vonsiatky stood silent during the arraignment. After he left the courtroom, his counsel, Martin W. Littleton, of New York, presented Judge Joseph Smith with an eight-page petition contending his client was incurably insane.

It was after an FBI raid at Vonsiatky's palatial estate, during which a quantity of records was seized, that the grand jury was

Greek King Is Guest At White House

President, First Lady Greet Monarch and Party.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(AP)—King George II of Greece was greeted with full military honors and a handshake by the President and Mrs. Roosevelt when he and his party arrived at the White House today after their trip from Cairo, Egypt, part way by air.

The tall, slim monarch, who was accompanied by Emanuel Tsouderos, Greek premier, had told reporters before the ceremonies that his countrymen "are in the fight to stay." He added "the Greek army, its air corps and more than half of its original navy are fighting today in many theaters of the war."

He said his mission here is to arrange for some direct shipment of lease-lend supplies to Greek forces. "We have been getting materials of war, by way of the British, but we feel that the demands of our nation in the war and in the reconstruction period which will follow can be met better by American assistance."

Although in recent months prime ministers, dukes and princes have visited the White House, this is the first time since the American trip of Britain's monarchs in 1939 that a king has been a guest and the White House staff turned out to watch the formal reception on the south grounds.

Mrs. Henry Nesbit, the housekeeper, watched from a bench behind a hedge just outside the kitchens where preparations were going on for the small state dinner in honor of the King tonight. The President's secretarial staff came out of the executive offices onto the lawn.

The formal reception group included, besides the President and Mrs. Roosevelt, cabinet members, Vice President Wallace, the chief justice, chairman of the House and Senate Foreign Affairs Committees. Companies of soldiers, sailors and marines formed a guard of honor.

In Uniform.

A hush of silence awaited the arrival of the King's party. In the first car rode the King in a khaki field marshal's uniform, the Greek prime minister; the Greek minister, Cimon P. Diamantopoulos; and George T. Summerlin, chief of protocol in the State Department.

The President greeted the King summoned and began consideration of the case May 14.

Accused of Conspiracy.

The indictments charged the five accused from January, 1941, to last December 6, conspired to collect and deliver to the German and Japanese governments information "relating to the numbers, personnel, disposition, equipment, arms and morale of the Army of the United States, the location, size, capacity, and other features of the United States fleet, the location, size, equipment and other features of military establishments, Naval establishments, airports, aircraft, shipping and other establishments essential to the national defense of the United States."

The jury charged that Kunze, Vonsiatky and Dr. Willumeit, meeting last July in Chicago, designated Kunze to carry information abroad, with $2,800 traveling expenses furnished by Vonsiatky, who married an heiress to millions, Mrs. Marion Buckingham Ream Stephens, formerly of Chicago, in 1922.

Meanwhile, the indictment charged, Vonsiatky was in touch with Japanese government officials to determine what type of information they most desired. Molzahn and Dr. Ebell, the jury said, allowed Kunze to use their homes as his mailing address at various times.

New Tobacco Tax Barks House Body

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(AP) The House Ways and Means Committee reached an impasse today on the question of new cigarette and tobacco taxes and decided to try again tomorrow to reach an agreement.

Informed sources said that the principal argument was over a Treasury proposal that a tax differential be established between 10-cent cigarettes and the 15-cent type.

Secretary Morgenthau recommended that the $3.25 a thousand tax be raised to $3.50 on the 10-cent brands and to $4 on the others. Woven into the discussion were other proposals to raise the rates on cigars, smoking tobacco and cigarette papers.

with a typical American "hello." After a moment from Mrs. Roosevelt the King stood between her and the President as the latter presented the American officials. The band played the Greek national anthem and the "Star-Spangled Banner."

Although not part of the official reception, a Greek-American institution, Steve Vasilakos, 60, gray-haired peanut vendor just outside the White House grounds since 1910, was doing his bit. Now a naturalized citizen, he "had the American flag on one corner of his stand and the Greek on the other."

He was so excited he had trouble with his English and had to call on a by-stander who could understand Greek to relate that he had a son who was a policeman in Athens and another with the Greek armed forces. He hasn't heard from either in some time.

Dirigible Base To Be Located At Savannah

Navy Officers To Survey Sites; Project Will Cost 7 Million.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(AP) Chairman Vinson, Democrat, Georgia, of the House Naval Affairs Committee, said today the Navy would establish a permanent lighter-than-air craft base at Savannah to cost $7,000,000.

The base will be used for blimps in Atlantic patrol work, Vinson said, adding that he and Representative Peterson, Democrat, of Georgia, of the first district, had been working on the project for some time.

Personnel of the base will be approximately 1,000 persons, Vinson said.

"The matter is definitely settled," he added, "and construction will get under way as soon as the site has been selected."

A group of naval officers will go to Savannah this week to make a survey of the city and surrounding territory for a site.

Vinson and Peterson have conferred with Mayor Gamble, of Savannah relative to the blimp base and discussed various phases of the work.

No additional details were made public.

FOURTH CORPS AREA SAVING TIRES

An intensive drive to save worn tires on Army vehicles from the junk heap by early inspection has resulted in the return of nearly 35,000 valuable casings to service since January 1, in the southeast alone, it was announced yesterday by Colonel William F. Riter, acting Fourth Corps Area Quartermaster.

Of 60,708 tires inspected by the 10 tire experts of the Quartermaster's office, approximately 57 per cent were returned to service. This figure represents a 24 per cent increase in savings of rubber since January 1, when 33 per cent were being returned.

Colonel Riter said that a definite program of training has been established and that even greater savings are expected.

Sailor Relates Tense Voyage On Cargo Ship

Passed Through Sub-Laden Seas and Had Narrow Escapes.

An exciting voyage to India, full of spine-tingling thrills and hair-breadth escapes was related here yesterday by Robert I. Camp, a veteran of 10 years service in the United States Merchant Marine, who is spending a 21-day leave with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Ottwell, of 138 Bankhead avenue.

Camp attributes his good luck in always arriving just behind or just ahead of trouble to a little emblem of the British merchant navy given to him by a torpedo-wrecked British seaman whom his ship picked up in midocean.

This talisman, Camp believes, was responsible for his safe return from a recent voyage full of near-mishaps on a freighter carrying trucks, tanks and planes to the British in India.

Leaving New York, the ship sailed down the North Carolina coast, where two dead men on a raft were sighted. Since the spot is well-known as a submarine trap, the ship didn't sail in any closer. After leaving this section, the crew heard that three ships had been sunk there soon after they left. They had arrived both before and after trouble.

Again a guardian spirit seemed to preside over the ship and steer her to safety, for just after she had left a Caribbean harbor, two ships were sunk there. Off Cape Town, she encountered a United States Army transport that had been shelled at Singapore.

Goes to Calcutta.

Although the ship originally had been scheduled to land her cargo at Rangoon, the Japs had forced her first, and she was forced to turn toward an Indian port. After depositing her war materials here, the ship went on to Calcutta, where she saw a bomb dropped through the deck of a sister ship and where she picked up survivors of three American ships.

Here two American Army officers, who joined the ship's crew, related how they had blown up 1,200 trucks on the Rangoon docks to keep them from falling into Jap hands.

On the return trip, the ship continued her practice of barely escaping from accidents and of giving succor to those who had been torpedoed or bombed. Five hundred miles northeast of Bermuda, 16 British seamen adrift in an open lifeboat were sighted. The laconic reply to the query, "How long have you been adrift," was, "One week ago tonight."

The Forgotten Word

One might take the word co-ordination and say it as Mark Twain said about the weather: that people were always talking about it, but that no one did anything about it.

One of the most flagrant examples of lack of co-ordination is in the government's many and various publicity and public relations departments which, with few exceptions, understand everything except public relations and publicity.

There is rarely a day that passes but which sees at least two conflicting reports issued.

The public confusion and irritation with many necessary and even vital measures initiated by the WPB, the OPA and other agencies arise out of the many statements which indicate all sorts of measures and rationing, none agreeing.

By the time the actual order is issued the public already has formed opinions about one proposed measure or another. The actual proposal rarely, if ever, is any one of the many suggested. The result is, of course, bad.

The whole publicity set-up is badly in need of streamlining.

Incompetents, hired apparently because they once failed to make good as newspaper reporters or advertising men, never succeed as public relations men.

Too many public relations men, hired to contact newspapers, develop an executive complex and begin telephoning newspapers to send reporters for hand-outs, instead of themselves earning the taxpayers' money by doing enough leg work to see that newspapers, physically unable to assign reporters to the many agencies, get the news.

There is need of co-ordination, but the word has become just a word. At least two government agencies have been formed since the war began to co-ordinate government news and information. To date they have merely been two more added to the long list which require co-ordination.

The average government hand-out already has been awarded the palm for dullness and for exceptional ability to cover up the news. They are lifeless, they are in duplication and they are, by and large, utter waste.

They clog the mails and they go into newspaper waste baskets almost as fast as they appear on the desks simply because they are, almost without exception, worthless.

A committee which is carrying on a campaign against waste, has estimated that a large newspaper will receive from the federal government publicity departments, 2,039 pages, which is about 16 3-4 pounds of paper. If reprinted in any newspaper in Atlanta, Birmingham, New Orleans or any city with circulation figures of those cities, it would require a whole week's edition to publish these wasteful, unintelligently prepared releases.

Most of them could be discontinued and the job done by a few men who really know public relations, advertising and merchandising.

It's too bad co-ordination has become a forgotten word.

Sermon Lesson!

The free world recalls with shudders the dark days of Dunkirk, when the cause of England looked so black. Yet it was in June, 1940, that Churchill told the house of commons:

"We shall fight on the seas and oceans, we shall fight with growing confidence and growing strength in the air, we shall defend our islands whatever the cost may be, we shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, we shall fight in the hills; we shall never surrender."

Last week, Churchill told the house:

"I may say that as the year advances German cities, harbors and centers of war production will be subjected to an ordeal whose like has never been experienced by any country in continuity, severity and magnitude."

There is a sermon for both the stout-hearted and the fainthearted in those speeches that span two years.

Roll Out the Old Tires

Months went by after the steel shortage became acute before a serious effort was made to round up scrap iron by millions of tons to relieve the stringency. A low price ceiling set up by OPA made it practically impossible for a scrap dealer to buy and sort metal and ship it to the proper place, and not lose his shirt at the same time.

A similar condition now prevails as regards scrap rubber—a too-low ceiling. Since the last great war, some 900,000,000 tires have been thrown away. It is estimated that half of these old tires are still lying around in barns and outhouses, and in attics and basements—as well as hanging from the limbs in the back yard for the kids to swing in. Rubber specialists say that 2,000,000 tons of this old rubber—equivalent to 700,000 tons of crude—could be easily gathered. This would exceed the total amount of crude rubber consumed in the United States during 1941.

Strangely enough, however, this pile of old rubber is not being tapped except to the extent of fifty per cent of the nation's reclaiming capacity. The old tires simply will not roll into the mills in sufficient numbers under the present low ceiling.

While no thoughtful person will question the wisdom of developing the synthetic business to the greatest extent possible for the long pull, it is difficult to understand the OPA's policy in relation to old rubber. The cost of synthetic rubber will be in the neighborhood of $500 per ton. The government is willing to risk $850,000,000 in it and more, and the people approve it. Yet, the price ceiling on scrap rubber, the quickest available source of supply, remains at the basic figure of $18 per ton—the same as before Japan assaulted Pearl Harbor. If the price were permitted to rise even to $100 per ton—about one-third of the first great war's peak—the cost of gathering 1,000,000 tons of old tires would not come to one-eighth of the outlay to get started in the synthetic business.

Let the price ceiling be lifted to a reasonable figure and the old tires would roll out.

Welcome Home, Bob

Atlanta will be glad to welcome back home Robert L. MacDougall who has resigned his position in Washington as chief engineer of the WPA to come back to Georgia as head of the Federal Works Administration.

He will be in charge of funds spent on public works of a defense nature in the seven states of the southeast. MacDougall did a splendid job in Atlanta with the state WPA and it was his splendid work there which earned him the promotion to Washington. There he continued his efficient administration with the result he has been selected to take over a more important job connected with the progress of the war. He will return to Atlanta in the near future, assuming his new duties the last of this month.

Ugly Duckling Auditorium

Atlanta's city auditorium, for years an ugly duckling unloved and unfavorably sung, again has run into ill fortune. The interior was decorated and remodeled. There were a great many seats behind posts, but this was discovered too late to remedy. Then fire took away the unlovely front. Atlanta cheered.

Alderman Raleigh Drennan put in a sloping floor. That was a great improvement. A beautiful park and fountain were prepared as a sort of back-ground.

There was $190,000 from insurance, ample we were told, to put on a new front. Work began. Now that has halted for the duration. Of the $190,000, only $20,000 remains and an estimated $145,000 will be required to finish the job.

Failure of the former administration to let the job by contract be blamed for the financial and construction mess which again leaves the auditorium more of an ugly duckling than ever.

Georgia Editors Say:

SCARCITY OF FARM LABOR

(Athens Banner-Herald.)

The scarcity of farm labor has grown to be a serious problem for the farmers, not only in this section, but throughout the state. Much of this condition was brought about by the migration of farm labor to the towns and cities in order to get on the relief rolls of the government and to engage in WPA employment. This movement on the part of farm labor caused the scarcity from which the farmers are now suffering. However, since the government has reduced the number of those benefiting from relief and practically discontinued WPA projects on which farm laborers were employed, many of these people are returning to the farm. This is the class of labor desired by the farmers and, if enough of former farm hands return to the farm, the labor problem will be solved and the farmer will be enabled to grow increased production of food and feedstuffs to supply the people, and livestock.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

FORESIGHT WASHINGTON, June 10.—In fighting a global war of the scope in which we are now engaged, much depends on the ability to outguess the enemy. Large concentrations of troops or naval forces at a given point by either side means the difference between victory and defeat.

Admiral King and General Marshall are credited with a wonderful piece of "outguessing" when they anticipated that the Japanese might try to strike a heavy blow at Midway Island. Much of the remarkable victory we achieved in that battle is attributed to their foresight.

Ordinarily we would have been expected to maintain nothing like the striking power we had concentrated at Midway before the unsuspecting Japs struck. The island is an important outpost except as a stepping-stone to Hawaii, 1,200 miles distant. Normally, the Japs had a right to assume that it would be found no better fortified than Guam or Wake, which they had taken earlier.

As Admiral King himself has said, he and General Marshall, in cooking over immediate Japanese moves, anticipated that the Japanese, banking over the major defeat suffered in the Coral Sea and the Doolittle bombing of Tokyo, would launch some new thrust against American territory in retaliation for what we had done to them.

Keen students of Japanese psychology, they knew the stock the Oriental mind places in "face-saving," and that the only way the Tokyo government's face could be saved from the indignity and damage of the Doolittle raid was to undertake a successful assault against one of our outposts.

By a process of elimination, Admiral King and General Marshall hit upon Midway as the probable objective of the Japanese blow. Panama and Alaska were too far away and too well fortified. Any effort to storm our fortress at Hawaii would be foolhardy without first leveling the defenses at Midway, which otherwise might be used as a base for flanking Japanese naval operations from the rear.

TINY ISLAND Hence it was decided to stake everything—or enough of everything—on the gamble that the simple-minded Japs would do precisely what they did—pick out what they regarded as the weakest link in our remaining chain of Pacific bases. Our highest ranking admiral and general are entitled to be rated as something of clairvoyants for the splendid quality of their guesswork. It panned out almost to the T as they foresaw it.

When the final war chapter of the Midway battle is written it will probably show that we had the tiny little island chock full of concealed planes waiting for the Japs. We must have had, also, an inordinate concentration of submarines in Midway waters, with a carrier or two hidden away close by. This is garnered from a statement in one of Admiral Nimitz's communications about a Japanese carrier having been torpedoed three times by one of our subs. Another possibility, also, is that we had a large fleet of flying fortresses poised at Hawaii in anticipation of the attack. These great planes, capable of flying the distance from Pearl Harbor to Midway in five hours, thence on another thousand miles to sea in quest of the enemy.

Air craft carriers, cruisers and destroyers require two days to make the trip from Hawaii to Midway. Battleships even longer. We have not been told as yet how much of our surface fleet participated in the attack, but it is reasonable to suppose that most of the good work was done by the most potent of them land-based. The fact that Admiral King gave full credit to the Army and Marine Corps, in addition to the Navy, indicates sufficiently that Army land-based planes had an active hand.

But whatever the participating units, the treacherous little Japs must have gotten the surprise of their lives. Everything they have accomplished in the Pacific war so far has had the element of surprise on their side. We are not catching up with them. They were able to take the Philippines, Malaya, Singapore and the Netherlands only because they had been making their preparations for the attack a year in advance, with neither us nor the British suspecting that a sudden blow would be struck.

CHANGING POINT There is a disposition in Washington official circles to believe that the Midway battle may well turn out to be the changing point in the Pacific war. Admiral Nimitz has a reputation for extreme conservatism. When he says that a "momentous victory may be in the making," that, in the light of his known caution of speech, is taken to mean that the victory has already been achieved. He has a record of understating a situation, rather than overstating it.

If the Japs have lost as many carriers as the communiques thus far indicate, their air striking power has been severely crippled at sea, and it should be only a matter of time before we are able to run them down, bottle up their fleet, and defeat with them at our pleasure.

By the end of the year we will have gone a long way toward completing the two-ocean Navy program provided for at the outbreak of the war two years ago. Right now we are fighting a two-ocean war on a one-ocean Navy. When the fleet is built up to authorized strength we will be able to take the Japs in our stride. Midway Island and the Coral Sea engagement earlier has left no doubt of this.

FARMERS URGED TO FIGHT WEEVIL

Editor, Constitution: I want to commend you for the splendid editorial in The Constitution this morning, entitled "The Big Bad Boll Weevil," which was based on the story in the Bartow Herald by County Agent M. W. Collins. Boll weevils are present this year in large numbers throughout Georgia, with the exception of a small fringe in the extreme northern part of the Georgia cotton belt. Over-wintered weevils emerge in the spring much faster when there is an abundance of rain than when the weather is dry. We have had this spring, for the most part, good distribution of rain. After the rain which we had about two weeks ago we had a large number of boll weevils move into the cotton fields. Since we have had good rains during the last few days, additional boll weevils may be expected to move into the cotton fields.

This early emergence of the boll weevils gives cotton farmers a better chance to wipe out the over-wintered weevils than if they waited until later in the summer to emerge. This is especially true for the northern half of the state. In the northern half the state cotton has just begun to put on squares. Therefore, if the farmers would get out into their fields and apply from two to three applications of pre-square poison they have a mighty good chance of wiping out 60 per cent of the over-wintered weevils. This would give them a much better chance to get a full bottom crop.

Calcium arsenate may be applied to the young cotton in the form of a dust, or it may be applied by mopping the cotton with a 1:1 mixture, consisting of one pound of calcium arsenate, one gallon of molasses and one gallon of water. During the early stage before squares are large enough for weevils to deposit eggs in, the boll weevils feed on the buds of the cotton plants, so any method which will get calcium arsenate in the bud will kill the weevil. There is a shortage of molasses and a big percentage of farmers will not be able to obtain any. Also there is a large number of farmers who do not have any dusting equipment.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Rutledge Jones, whose column, "Silhouettes," usually appears in this space, will be absent from the office for the next several weeks. Until his return this space will be filled with letters to the Editor and other features.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING FOR DEFENSE JOBS

Editor, Constitution: I, E. J. Baker, am one of thousands that have taken vocational training, which was set up by the U. S. government, to train people for defense jobs.

These courses lasted from 400 to 500 hours and I understand that it costs the government $1 per hour to train these men. After these men have completed their courses, they are available to obtain employment in our defense job in or out of the state of Georgia due to the fact that they claim we do not have enough actual experience, and I am just wondering why the government would spend such an amount of money, knowing these men would be unable to secure jobs afterwards.

We are always hearing there is a shortage of men. We go to these places wherever they may be and in many instances fail to even get an interview. I have been out of school for

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, June 11.—

Louis Gives The case of Joe Louis, who owes an income tax of $117,000 and wants a chance to earn the money this summer, ere he settles down to serious soldiering, is unique and special, and calls for special treatment. He who accepts a favor from another puts himself under obligations to return the favor, and the Army and Navy have accepted two valuable favors from this young man. To grant the request which he asks might be to violate some Army regulations, or possibly even some law, but public opinion would be offended less by that than by the proposed violation of the unwritten law of conduct which all well-behaved people try to abide by.

Louis has fought twice in the ring, rising each time a private business asset of great value, for no reward at all, and has turned over to the Army and Navy relief agencies a personal contribution of $115,000. He was under no obligation to do this and the arrangement by which the government accepted the favor was very irregular and, taken as a precedent, would lead to very troublesome complications. Therefore, the whole affair is a special case and has no precedent, but the desire not to be regarded as closed until Louis has had his chance to earn as much as he can in a fight for his own benefit. After that there should be an end to such irregular dealings, and men holding commissions in any of the services should be put to service duties exclusively or, if they are unfit for any such duties appropriate to their rank, washed out.

Army Decision The colored people will have no monopoly on the sense of ingratitude for conspicuous generosity by an individual soldier, if Louis is not permitted to fight once more, this last time on his own account. The further delay in the military training of one soldier would be unimportant in the whole war effort and if the question of the effect on the feelings of other service men is raised now, then it was a mistake to excuse him from some of his duties and give him leave to train and fight for the service charities on the two past occasions. But it was not a mistake. The good that Louis did outweighs any objections and the only threat of ill effects exists in the possibility that the Army will stand on a decision to refuse the return favor.

It takes no tax accountant to see that even if he be allowed to fight Louis probably will be unable to reduce his tax debt much. The new money will be taxable as new income in very high and, perhaps, confiscatory brackets. If congress adopts the plan first offered by the Auto Workers' Union of the CIO, the most he can put toward the payment of his old debt will be $25,000. But even if that Congressional inspiration be rejected, the ordinary scale of taxation on big incomes will leave Louis little more money with which to reduce his owings. He would seem to have had bad management in his tax affairs, for not only would he have to pay taxes on the money which he receives simply in their and must be set aside as though it had come to them earmarked for the federal and state treasuries.

But if Louis is allowed to fight, then that should be end of such business, because doctors, attorneys, singers, actors and writers in the services can claim that they are capable of conducting profitable sidelines in their spare time and the difficulties which would arise should they have that privilege are easily foreseen.

No officer who had been called into active service, however fit and remote from the realities of war, should be permitted to conduct a newspaper column or a personal radio program, either as official duty or as a private occupation for private income. These are not military activities and the fighting forces cannot afford to confer rank on any civilian with the understanding that he shall be excused from all risks and service and merely masquerade in uniform.

The award of a commission to any individual whose sole official duty is to promote entertainments to raise money for service charities, and even that only as a part-time job, is an affront to all genuine officers and enlisted men, and the precedent has caused deep disgust and much bitterness among honorable officers, who are wholly in the service, and their families. Anyone holding a commission should be assigned to genuine military or naval duty appropriate to his rank and if he is notoriously incapable of any duty and morally discreditable to the service he should be decommissioned at once.

approximately three months, and I have not been able to find anybody that has secured employment from taking these courses. Most of us are unemployed automobile workers, thrown out of work by government priorities, and have large families and it is imperative that we get something to do as in each and every case men are complaining that their compensation checks have run out and they and their families are getting hungry.

It seems that we were misinformed when we took these courses, for we were all under the impression that there would be jobs waiting for us on account of such a shortage of skilled men.

Can you look into this matter for us and see if you can give us some solution to our problem?

Thanking you for anything you might do for us, I am,

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL

THE WORM OF CONSCIENCE One of the most amazing spectacles in congress is that of the arrogant isolationist group of pre-December 7, which now comes whining in saying there is organized against it a deliberate smear campaign.

They ask for an investigation of those who express them.

They complain there seems to be a national dislike for them.

They see juries disapprove a definite German and Steuben band tie-up between some of their isolationist associates.

In anger, but never in repentance and honest admission of their foolish measures which so starkly damaged this nation and which have cost the lives of so many men more valuable than they, this group tries to muster of the dignity of the senate as a defense, to ask for some sort of closed season on their records; to demand that the people quit reminding them of their falsehoods and their blind folly.

They try to fling back the charges of Communism at some who attack them. They bluster and they whine, seeking to escape the truth.

One wonders if the worm of conscience is gnawing at their minds.

It was they who told us that this country would never be attacked by Japan because Japan yearned to live in peace.

They proclaimed that the oceans, easily spanned in 12 hours by planes, would protect us.

They opposed the fortification of Wake and Guam and the Pacific area on the basis it would be an affront to Japan.

Not only that, but they themselves carried on the most false and vicious smear campaign that has ever disgraced a people. Never has there been so unscrupulous a campaign against the President and those who sought to say that it was impossible for this country to escape the forces of a world war.

And for them now to come whining about being smeared—well, only they could muster that much gall.

LEST WE FORGET

It is well enough to remember that Bennett Clarke led the fight against fortifying Guam. Had we fortified Guam and Wake, in accordance with the plans three times submitted by our naval officials, we would not have lost in killed and wounded those we have lost.

It is well to remember that Wheeler and Nye were as vociferous and as wrong. They were the smear boys. They in the senate and Ham Fish and others of like mind in the house led the smearing.

It is well, too, to remember that there was, about the fringe of this crowd which was so smugly arrogant in its abuses, another crowd which lacked their intelligence and loudness.

Yet this crowd was there—parrot-like. Would you care to meet some of them?

THE RECORD

Let us gather up a few items from the record

On February 14, 1940, Republican Representative George H. Tinkham, of Massachusetts, said: "At the very outbreak of the European war, the President began repeatedly to inject the poison of fear in the veins of public emotionism. He began seeing phantom submarines off our coast."

On February 16, 1940, Republican Representative J. William Ditter, of Pennsylvania, said: "The President's naval expansion program, based on an undefined foreign policy or on an exaggerated domestic need—a program that carries with it an admitted divergence of funds—must be looked upon with some degree of apprehension and a considerable amount of suspicion."

On February 16, 1940, Republican Representative Frederick C. Smith, of Ohio, said: "Whatever may be our needs for additional expenditures for defense, every dollar we increase previous costs burdens our sick economy that much more. After all, it is hardly a good thing to do to give a sick man a gun too heavy for him to carry."

On February 16, 1940, Republican Representative John G. Alexander, of Minnesota, said: "When we consider that we are asked to forego our civil liberties for civil functions of the War Department so that we can build for war, we wonder. We are being asked to appropriate upward of $2,000,000,000 for national defense—a so-called program for peace. Do we prefer to spend our money for war or for our pressing domestic needs?"

On March 27, 1940, Frank Gannett, candidate for the Republican nomination for president, said: "Under the present that it is defense, we are getting ready for battle with foreign foes. Clever propaganda is being spread over the country that the Allies are losing the fight. As a matter of fact, I doubt if that is the case."

Read them over again. Remember that is the fringe about the loud shouters—the Nyes, the Clarkes, the Ham Fishes—and all that gang which almost isolated this country into defeat.

THEN ASK YOURSELF

The Atlantic coast has no hungry phantoms. George Tinkham, in 1940, said they were phantoms.

Ask yourself what you think would have happened had those men had their way.

Our naval expansion, pitiful as it was, looked highly suspicious to the great mind of J. William Ditter. It is costing us three times what it would have cost.

And so on. Ask yourself. Ask yourself if, when war is done, you are going to listen to this crowd, or others like them, who will come to sell us defeat and shame and isolation?

Our investment of blood and money must be made to pay a return of a better world.

And for that gang today to say it is being smeared!

No Man Was Safe When Rulers

Could Use Public Power for

Private Revenge

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

Secretary Hull's father, a Tennessee mountaineer, once hunted down and killed a man who had shot him. Washington newspapermen say the sad-faced secretary has the same feudist memory. He never forgets an injury.

A full month before Hitler's treacherous attack on Russia, Hull learned what was coming and had Welles tip off the Russian ambassador.

There was no show of gratitude in Russia. Stalin knew he could not trust Hitler, but he was playing for time. And to keep up the pretense of Russo-German friendship, he had his official organ, Pravda, print an article rebuking Mr. Hull. It was headed: "Senile Capitalist Tries to Make Trouble Between Russia and Germany."

That word "senile" stuck in the secretary's craw. He keeps a clipping of the article in his desk, and reporters say he occasionally shows it to callers. It is an insult he never will forgive.

Can anybody doubt that his personal feeling will in some measure affect all of his dealings with Russia, both during the war and in the making of the peace treaty?

A former ambassador, who knows the Russian leaders well, says they will hold out, "provided they are convinced that America and England will not sell them out in making the treaty."

In this delicate and dangerous situation, the secretary's personal animosity could affect the whole future history of mankind.

Is this trait in human nature that makes "government by law instead of men" absolutely necessary to human freedom? Vigilant people can see to it that established law applies to all alike; but where the law is one man's will, safety and justice depend upon his whim. He rewards pets and punishes those who offend him.

Even now the destiny of nations is often affected by the personal feelings of men in power.

It was the personal feeling of a few men in the State Department that

Dudley Glass

Residents of Athens and adjacent territory have registered a protest against a motion picture, soon ready for the public eye, which stars Joel McCrea in the role of Dr. William Morton, "discoverer of ether as an anesthetic." Brief reference to it was made in this column last week, with the remark that Georgians would continue to believe Dr. Crawford W. Long, of Jefferson, performed the first experiments with ether, preceding Dr. Morton by a couple of years. The medical profession believes that, too, from conclusive evidence. The government recognized it when it issued the Crawford W. Long postage stamp.

But, in my personal opinion, it hardly is worth while raising Cain about it. Because what good would it do?

The majority of motion picture patrons are neither scientists nor historians. They are young people, plain people, some of them uneducated people—all kinds of people. They go to the picture palace to see a picture and to be entertained.

If Gary Cooper, as an instance, were starred as Julius Caesar winning the Battle of Waterloo with tanks and dive bombers these slight errors of historical fact would affect attendance but slightly. When you want to see Cooper or Gable or Veronica Lake you go to see the picture and you don't give a hoot whether Gable plays Daniel Boone in a white wig and silk hose. That is, most people don't. As for myself, I think it would be quite amusing.

Why Rise in Arms About Ether and Who Dood It?

As for the Dr. Morton film, it undoubtedly will be accepted as authentic history everywhere but in the south—and nobody in the south will know the difference except those who read something besides Hollywood Hokey and True Confessions. Nobody in Illinois, except members of the medical profession will bother about the Long-Morton discussion. Nobody ever heard of either one of them.

Which makes small difference except for the historical record. Morton is dead and so is Long—and ether continues to ease pain, make major operations possible and save lives. I don't care who wrote the plays attributed to Shakespeare. I know they're 300 years old and as good as ever.

Arkansas Story

This one is lifted from the state press column in the Dallas News and condensed to fit wartime conditions. It's about a couple of Texas men who went over into Arkansas with the idea of buying a big farm. Real estate man showed them a fine tract near the White river, good soil and everything a farmer could desire.

But it was low land and close to a creek. They observed on the trees, about five feet high, the marks of dark, rich mud.

"Looks like this land is overflowed in high water time," said one of the prospects. "No suh," said the real estate man. "This land never is overflowed. Them marks on the trees is where the hogs come up from the bottoms and rub the mud off their backs."

The two prospects went back to the hotel to think it over. Next morning the farm salesman called to learn their decision. "We've decided we won't buy that land," said the spokesman. "But we'd like to buy about six carloads of them hogs."

Impossible Quest
Somebody in a party the other night was telling a story which got so many laughs I'm passing it on. It's a bit shopworn, but if that gang hadn't heard it maybe you haven't.

Stranger in town approached a resident leaning against a lamp post and inquired the way to the old post office. After it was too late he discovered why the citizen needed the lamp post's support.

"Old post office?" returned the slightly squiffed but anxious-to-please resident. "Certainly. Now let's see. You go four blocks up this street and turn left three blocks.

"No, that's wrong. I'm slightly mixed up. You go two blocks up this street and turn right four blocks.

"Wait a minute. Now, let's think. I got it. You go three blocks down that street behind you and turn left.

"No, sir, that ain't right, either. Maybe I can figure this out. Now, let's see.

"Mister, there just ain't no way you can get to the post office from here."

Scrap Salvage Campaign Will Begin Shortly

Tin Cans, Fats and Oil Will Be Collected With Rubber.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(AP) A nation-wide scrap salvage campaign, involving collection of rubber, tin cans and fats and oil, will be undertaken soon by the War Production Board with an intensive two-week scrap rubber drive as its first phase, a WPB spokesman said today.

Virtually all details of the general program have been decided, it was understood, but major problems affecting the rubber collection remain to be settled. These were discussed at a White House conference this afternoon attended by Donald M. Nelson, WPB chairman; Petroleum Co-ordinator Ickes, Price Administrator Henderson and Archibald MacLeish, head of the Office of Facts and Figures.

One Phase of Drive.
WPB officials emphasized that the two-week rubber drive represented only one phase of the overall scrap collection plan, which contemplates a continuing drive for the duration of the war to gather in all materials important in the war effort—including rubber.

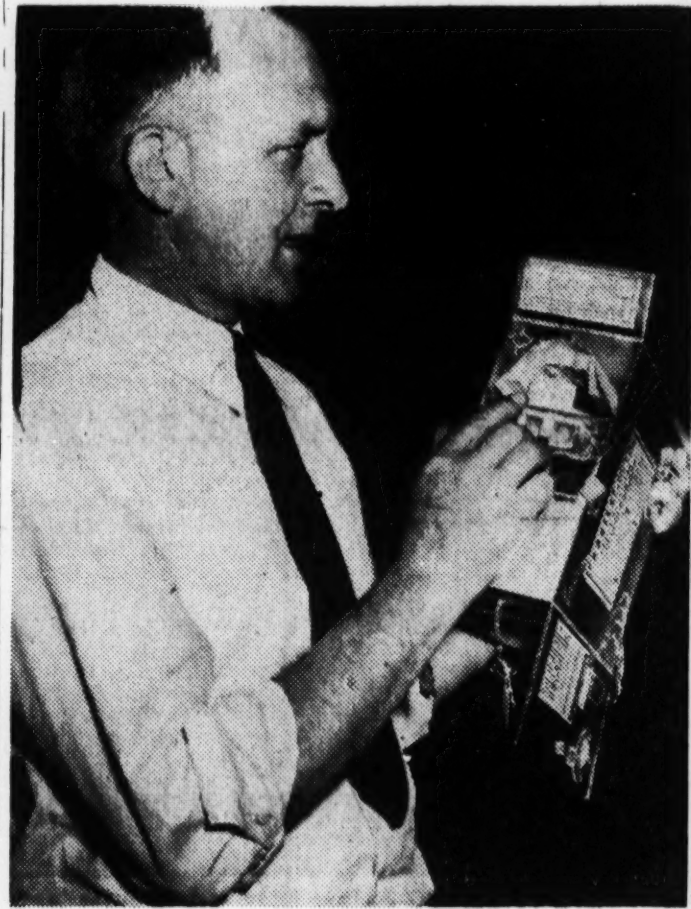

When the salvage campaign would begin remained uncertain, but MacLeish said that a formal statement probably would be issued tomorrow.

County salvage committees in Kansas were reported working on a plan by which scrap rubber would be sold by citizens to service stations for one cent a pound, but WPB sources said such payments were not now contemplated in the government program. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, however, has agreed to pay $25 a ton to the service stations for scrap turned in to them.

Bureau to Supervise.
There has been discussion, it was understood, of giving the oil companies a part in administering the rubber collections, since they would furnish many of their facilities as collection depots. WPB sources indicated, however, the rubber phase of the scrap program would be directed by the WPB's Bureau of Industrial Conservation. This bureau will also have supervision over the collection of tin cans and fats and oils.

Under present plans for the fats and oil salvage, housewives would save their bacon grease and other fats and sell them to retail grocery stores at about 5 cents a pound. The stores, in turn, would be reimbursed by soap manufacturers which need the oils for glycerin.

NAVY RELIEF FUND.
SPARTA, Ga., June 10.—The campaign for Navy relief in Hancock county under the direction of Chairman H. A. Berry closed last night after a neat sum had been raised for this fund. Dimes from school children and various other donations made up the fund which came from all sections of the county.

IT COMES OUT HERE—W. W. Oak, supervising weather forecasting for the southeastern states, explains one of the small broadcasting sets which are sent up on balloons to obtain data. The box, which includes a one-tube sender, drops to the ground on a small red parachute when pressure at a height of between 8 and 11 miles bursts the balloon. The desired information already has been received when that happens. Gadgets work fast these days.

Aching Corn Good Forecaster Of Storm, Says Meteorologist

If your pet corn aches and makes you think it's going to rain, don't ignore the warning. Chances are the corn is right, according to W. W. Oak, supervising forecaster for the southeastern district.

"It is quite likely," Oak told the Airport Arena Kiwanis Club yesterday, "that changes in atmospheric pressure or humidity caused the corn to ache. So the corn may be an accurate forecaster of rain—at least, a change in weather."

Some of the signs of changing weather which folks of other generations stuck to or got stuck with have bases even in the weather bureau, Oak declared, while others cannot be traced beyond the superstition stage.

"Indians believed that a thick shuck on corn meant a tough winter was coming, but we can't trace that to fact," Oak said. "However, you will find the fact that cattle and other animals are nervous and restless just before a storm substantiated by records."

Weather forecasters learn a lot about other folks' businesses, especially since the censorship on weather information during the war, Oak pointed out. "We can't tell folks it's going to rain, but we can advise a contractor not to lay

Peoples Pupils Almost Fail To Welcome Snite

Father of Polio Victim Gets Students by Station Gateman.

For six years the Low First grade of Peoples Street school has met Fred Snite Jr., the lad in the iron lung, at the Union Station on his trip from Miami to Chicago in the spring, but last night, at the time set for Snite to arrive, they almost didn't do it.

A gateman, determined to do his duty, gave them the old "I don't care who you are, you can't go through this gate." It took a little convincing by Snite Sr. to get by him.

Rosy-cheeked, smiling Snite Jr., who was accompanied by his father, a nurse, and his 2-year-old daughter, "Pinky," explained to the class that Mrs. Snite was not able to make the trip and would follow later.

He beamed when he was given a book for his daughter, whose picture hangs on the wall of the Peoples Street school.

Well-tanned and hearty, Snite Sr. said if he couldn't play golf, he wasn't a fit man to live with. When he made two holes in one a few months ago and appeared in Robert Ripley's "Believe It Or Not," his son wrote him that instead of being famous because he was the father of Fred Snite Jr. he was famous in his own right.

Snite Sr. greeted Mrs. Martha Lovelace, head teacher of the grade; Miss Daisy Belle and Miss Nan Hall, who accompanied the students.

Snite Jr. said he thought he'd be more comfortable in Chicago. "It was just too warm for comfort in Miami," he said.

He explained that the trip north was being made a little later than usual.

Snite Sr. wants to visit his sponsors sometime, but he says he keeps flying from Chicago to Miami. This is his seventh trip this year. He has been sponsor for six first grades at Peoples.

Pelley Associate Jailed On Seditious Indictment

INDIANAPOLIS, June 10.—(AP) Lawrence A. Brown, one of two persons indicted yesterday by William Dudley Pelley, Silver Shirt leader, by a federal grand jury for alleged seditious activities, surrendered today to United States Marshal Julius Wichser.

Brown, listed as secretary of the Fellowship Press, Inc., printing concern which published Pelley's alleged seditious statements, was sent to jail in default of bond.

Agnes Marian Henderson, treasurer of the concern, arrested late yesterday, was released under $5,000 bond. Pelley has been at liberty under bond since shortly after his arrest April 4.

How to Care for Your ELECTRIC WASHER

Today your electric washing machine is more valuable to you than ever before, as none are now being built. So it is important that you take good care of your washer to make it last as long as possible. Here are some simple suggestions:

1. Drain immediately after washing is done. Rinse tub thoroughly after each washing. Remove agitator or suction cups and rinse.
2. Leave cover off tub until all dampness has evaporated. This prevents musty odor.
3. Remove, with soft cloth or sponge, any soap curd or lint that may have remained in tub, agitator or suction cups. Keep washer spotlessly clean.
4. Connecting cord should be wiped dry and carefully wound on hooks provided to prolong its life.
5. Rolls and frame of wringer should be wiped dry. Release pressure on rolls when not in use. Saves spring and rubber—both vital materials.

You will find other helpful hints regarding your washer in the booklet, "The Care and Use of Electric Appliances in the Home." When one of our Home Service Representatives calls on you, she will be glad to advise you on the proper care and use of your washer and other appliances.

WARTIME NEEDS

CHANGE GREYHOUND SCHEDULES
EFFECTIVE MONDAY JUNE 15TH...

Greyhound buses will operate on new wartime schedules. This change in service is being made in order to cooperate to the fullest extent with the wartime plans of the Office of Defense Transportation. The purpose is to make every bus work full time—keeping vital traffic on the move.

America's war program has the right of way! The great majority of the people Greyhound is carrying today and intends to carry efficiently are selectees traveling to examination centers, fighting men on leave or furlough, war workers moving to their jobs, businessmen traveling on essential work. The trips they take are necessary to keep the war program rolling.

With increased service demanded for war production areas—and little increase in buses available—it is necessary to divert equipment to routes where it is most needed.

Many peacetime features are discontinued. Operating speeds are somewhat reduced. Express and Limited Schedules are eliminated entirely. Second sections of regular schedules are being eliminated unless the buses carry a sufficient number of passengers. Greyhound schedules will be combined with those of other bus companies, when necessary.

Conservation of rubber is all-important—and Greyhound is taking every possible step to increase the big savings already effected. Today buses use only a fraction as much rubber as private cars per passenger, per mile—and they average more than 40,000 miles per tire.

We hope that these wartime changes will not cause you inconvenience, crowding or delay. But if you don't find travel as comfortable and easy as in normal times, please make allowances! The war effort comes first with Greyhound as it does with you!

You Can Help
by getting information about the new schedules before you travel—taking as little baggage as possible—traveling before or after the mid-summer rush period—taking your trip on mid-week days, leaving seats on week-ends for soldiers and war workers.

GREYHOUND LINES

PHENIX CITY-COLUMBUS.
The Columbus Ledger-Inquirer carried a front-page story last Sunday in which facts are revealed regarding venereal diseases among soldiers at Fort Benning and throughout the southeast that are appalling. The facts were reported by Captain James A. Loveless, venereal disease officer at Fort Benning, to the commanding officer of the post, Colonel Walter Scott Fulton, and released by the public relations office at the post without comment.

There are several factors in this story I wish to commend. First, the courage of the Ledger-Inquirer in carrying the story, and carrying it on the front page; second, the amazing record of reduction of cases of infection reported at Phenix City in May as compared with January—a drop of 63 per cent; third, that Colonel Fulton wrote a letter of commendation to the Phenix City officials. Conditions in Phenix City in January were reported as unfavorable but that community has proved its willingness and ability to co-operate in controlling the dives that once appeared to have thrived in that community. Phenix City is to be congratulated and thanked for this splendid achievement.

But now comes the sad part of the story. Whereas Phenix City has reduced cases of venereal infection among soldiers at Fort Benning 63 per cent in May as compared with January, such cases have increased 49 per cent in Columbus in May compared with January. The report from the Fourth Corps headquarters in Atlanta shows that 27 per cent of all cases of venereal infection among soldiers in Georgia originated in Columbus, whereas only 8 per cent of all cases in Alabama originated in Phenix City. Furthermore, among the cities of the Fourth Corps Area, Columbus was said in April to have been responsible for the second largest number of cases, namely 90, with Jacksonville showing a larger number of cases, namely 100. Atlanta showed 63 such cases; Macon, 37; Savannah, 35; Augusta, 24, and Albany 13. Forty-five other Georgia towns showed 76 cases. Georgia led the five states of the area with 338 cases; Florida, 302; Louisiana, 389; Alabama, 226, and Mississippi 161.

Columbus will, undoubtedly, accept the responsibility of doing something about the increase of venereal cases among soldiers in that largest soldier population in the state. The courage of the Ledger-Inquirer in putting the situation frankly before the community is another heartening illustration of the value of a free press. The good people of Columbus, like the good people of Phenix City, will start for this outrageous condition. And Atlanta, with a relatively small soldier population, is challenged with the fact that in this city there were 63 cases of venereal infection reported in May. Already definite steps have been taken to curb this situation. I repeat what I said last January when the report was made about conditions in Phenix City, any community that idly stands by and allows conditions of vice to destroy our soldiers is guilty of sabotage. I say it about my own community. Such conditions can be corrected; and I believe they will be corrected here in Atlanta, in Columbus, and everywhere. And again I wish to express admiration for the fine achievement of Phenix City. It proves the point that such conditions can be corrected. And let us ever remember that every soldier is someone's son, someone's sweetheart, an essential factor in winning this war.

Latest Thing in Office Desks Protects Knees, Saves Space

Remember the bookkeeper of 40 years ago? You know the fellow who wore black silk sleeve-protectors and a green eyeshade? And if he couldn't find his eyeshade he just wouldn't start work at his high desk?

It was about that time that office furniture was "modernized," desks were lowered so that a slip from their high stools would not result in fatal injuries.

They stayed "modernized" for almost 40 years. Then the automobile industry got to wondering—at least, W. E. Tarr and C. I. Center, of Studebaker Corporation, wondered why assembly line methods wouldn't work in making office equipment, as well as automobiles.

The result of the office managers wondering is the latest thing in desks.

It's a convertible, being precision made so that tops can be changed to make it an executive, junior executive, left or right-hand secretarial or just a plain space-saver.

It has what is known as a "courtesy shield," which allows typists to relax while working and not worry about whether their knees are showing.

Tarr and Center, here to attend the National Office Management Association convention, aren't worried about the problems of desk space and purchasing new desks when offices are moved. They just get out their screwdrivers and go to work.

They're letting others in on the "revolutionary desk," too, having turned its manufacture over to a furniture concern on a royalty basis.

Soldier, 18, Accused In Theft, Shooting

Woodrow Merck, 18-year-old Mountain View youth, who joined the Army a few days ago, was back in Decatur yesterday charged with robbing and shooting W. J. Dudley, Decatur barber, May 22. Police Chief J. T. Dailey reported.

Merck was identified as Dudley's assailant from photographs taken yesterday. He was located at Camp Wheeler, near Macon, to which he had been sent after enlisting in the army at Orlando, Fla.

Police said Dudley was robbed of $17.50 and shot in the arm and chest by a youth who thumbed a ride with him.

Splinter Injury Is Fatal to Boy

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION, WAYCROSS, Ga., June 10.—Henry Emmett Busse Jr., 11-year-old student at Manor High school who last week completed the sixth grade, died yesterday at a local hospital of tetanus, following an illness of one week.

The youngster struck a splinter in his foot while at school.

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Busse, of Waycross, Route 3, he is survived by two brothers, Leroy and Donald Busse; a sister, Mrs. Paul Medors; his grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Busse, of St. Paul, Minn.; also a number of uncles and aunts of Minnesota, the former Busse home.

Funeral services probably will be held at Kettle Creek church near Waycross, but definite plans are being delayed pending arrival of relatives.

Drama, Music Included in Screen Fare

Two New Pictures and One Holdover Begin Week's Run.

Drama in the sky, a story of ferry pilots and flying fortresses, a fairy tale musical with Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald in the leading roles and a hold-over of Shirley Temple's latest film make up today's changes in Atlanta theater billings this week.

"Canal Zone," an air drama which stars Chester Morris and Harriet Hilliard will be presented on the Rialto screen starting today. "I Married an Angel" is offered at Loew's Grand and "Miss Annie Rooney" moves to the Rhodes.

Loew's Grand

"I Married an Angel," bringing together Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald for their 8th performance, an extravagant musical adapted from the Broadway hit of the same name, comes to Loew's Grand theater today.

The film which marks Nelson's first crossover as an all-out comedian, tells the story of a millionaire playboy, who falls asleep during a gay party and dreams an angel floats in through the window. He finally awakens to the romance with the girl whose counterpart the dream angel was.

Edward Everett Horton plays the role of Nelson's companion. The picture is highlighted by a great party scene in which appears more than 100 beautiful girls, chosen from models, beauty contest winners and others from all over the country.

Rialto

Starring Chester Morris, Harriet Hilliard and John Hubbard, "Canal Zone," a picture which tells of how American airmen are blazing a new trail across the Americas into Africa, a picture which describes the hardships they undergo in the tropical country near the United States' water lifeline, the Panama Canal, comes to the Rialto theater today.

Chester Morris plays the role of "Hardack," a two-fisted training officer. Harriet Hilliard, the commander's daughter, is the only white woman to be found in the tropical jungle country. John Hubbard is the society playboy, whose antics in the air bring many headaches to his commanders.

Rhodes

Against a gay comedy background Shirley Temple is presented as a modern miss who gets her first romantic kiss of her screen career in "Miss Annie Rooney" which begins a hold-over engagement at the Rhodes theater today.

Shirley is pictured as the girl who lives on the wrong side of the tracks, but who wins everybody's heart with her warm loveliness and affection. Dickie Moore, bespectacled youngster, is the lucky guy who gets to kiss Shirley.

Tribute Is Paid To Dr. Carter In Publication

Booklet Commemorates Sixtieth Anniversary of Minister.

A souvenir booklet commemorating the 60th anniversary celebration of Dr. Edward Randolph Carter, as pastor of Friendship Baptist church, which was held at the City Auditorium April 19, has just been published by the church book committee.

The volume pays glowing tribute to Dr. Carter, who was born a slave, educated himself and then served as pastor of the same church for 60 years.

In it are printed congratulatory letters to Dr. Carter from President Roosevelt, Senator Walter George, John D. Rockefeller Jr., J. H. Rushbrooke, president of the Baptist World Alliance, and other prominent persons. The booklet carries also a column by Ralph McGill, executive editor of The Constitution, reporting the tribute paid the venerable minister by religious leaders in April, when a crowd of 5,000 filled the auditorium in his honor.

Savannah Major Hurt Parachuting

DAYTON, Ohio, June 10.—(AP)—Major R. D. Denson, of Hunter Field, Savannah, Ga., was injured parachuting from a fighter plane which crashed on the J. M. Booher farm 12 miles north of here last night, officers at Patterson Field reported.

Denson, who was taken to Patterson Field hospital, received a fractured leg and undetermined injuries. Field spokesmen said he was on a routine test flight. Booher said the plane "exploded in the air."

Georgia WPA Ten Billion Is Geared Up to Dollars Spent Help Win War On WPA Work

Switches in Executive Personnel Revealed by Harman.

Changes in executive personnel of the Works Projects Administration of Georgia "to facilitate operations for an all-out program of war services" were announced here yesterday by Harry E. Harman Jr., administrator.

Jane Van De Vrede, formerly state director of community service programs, will head the new service division with Mrs. Helen S. Bose as state chief of defense health and welfare services. Emmett V. Wheelchel as state chief of war services and R. G. Moore as chief of projects services.

Dr. Frederick Hulse, formerly state supervisor of the university research assistance program, will succeed Wheelchel as state supervisor of education.

$145,843,000 Expended in Georgia Since '35 to March, 1942.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(AP)—Approximately $10,279,070,000 has been spent by the federal government for WPA programs operated by the Works Projects Administration and other federal agencies since July, 1935, to March, 1942.

Testimony taken during hearings on the $280,000,000 work relief and relief appropriations bill for 1943 disclosed the figures.

The amounts expended in various southeastern states for the nearly seven years follow:

Alabama—$137,892,000; Georgia—$145,843,000; Florida $135,774,000; North Carolina $121,310,000; South Carolina $112,938,000.

The largest share of these costs went to pay the wages of all project workers. Acting WPA Com-

House Clashes On Continuance Of WPA Funds

Members To Vote Today on Motion To Wipe Out Allotment.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(AP) Bipartisan demands for abolition of the WPA—long a subject of congressional controversy—arose on the house floor today while supporters of the relief agency contended it could make important contributions to national welfare in time of war.

The house will reach a vote tomorrow on a motion by Representative Taber, Republican, New York, ranking minority member of the appropriations committee, to wipe out the proposed $280,000,000 allotment designed to give employment to 400,000 persons on WPA during the fiscal year starting July 1.

"The request for these funds comes in at a time when any man or woman willing and able to work can find employment," Taber declared. "Farmers are crying for help. Factories are searching for men. The army is taking thousands of young men for duty. The only argument that can be advanced for its continuance while the nation is at war is that the misfits who have made a mess of the WPA over the years may continue on the public pay roll."

Chairman Cannon, Democrat, of Missouri, of the appropriations committee, maintained, however, that there were still hundreds of thousands of unemployed, that the conversion of industry from peace to war production had created hardship in many sections. He declared that most of the $280,000 would be spent for projects connected with the war.

3,000 Attend Funeral In France for RAF Hero

VICHY, Unoccupied France, June 10.—(AP)—Three thousand persons (presumably French) were reported today to have attended funeral services for an RAF flyer who was shot down along the French coast and buried with military honors by the Germans at St. Malo.

Missioner Francis Dryden told the House Appropriations Committee that labor costs during the first nine months of the present fiscal year represented more than 82 percent of all WPA program expenditures.

The WPA program as a whole spent only $698,000,000 for the nine months of this fiscal year, Dryden said, or less than 41 percent of the outlay during the first nine months of the fiscal year 1939 when the program was at its peak.

$50 Pay Sails Through House To Assured Approval by Senate

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(AP) A $50-a-month service pay bill won final house approval today after an unsuccessful last-minute attempt to have it sent to conference for a third time.

Only perfunctory senate action tomorrow is necessary to send the legislation to the White House. The senate already has gone on record as favoring the $50 minimum, an increase of $8 monthly from the amount voted earlier by that body. The Army minimum is now $21 a month.

The 363-to-0 vote followed a spirited fight over a provision to increase the retirement pay of approximately 120 first World War officers, retired under section 24B of the national defense act.

Representative Faddis, Democrat, Pennsylvania, asserted these officers were not entitled to additional pay because they had been retired for "unsatisfactory service." Representative Martin, Republican, Iowa, told the house most of the officers affected were unfit for military service.

Representatives Kilday, Democrat, Texas, and Sparkman, Democrat, Alabama, defended the retired officers and the house rejected, 317 to 18, Faddis' motion to recommit the bill with instructions to the house conferees to insist on elimination of the retired officers' pay boost and removal of a clause making the legislation permanent.

Effective with June pay checks, the legislation provides for pay and allowance increases for the Army, the Navy, the Marine Corps, the Coast Guard, the Coast and Geodetic Survey, the Public Health Service and nurses.

Base pay raises were provided only for men up to and including the rank of second lieutenant in the Army and ensign in the Navy. Rental and subsistence allowances were provided for all officers.

4 Men Injured
As Floor Falls

ROME, Ga., June 10.—(AP)—Four men were injured, none seriously, this afternoon in the collapse of the second story of the Dillinger Bedspread Factory on North Broad street, Chief of Police C. I. Harris reported.

The men were at work on the ground floor of the factory, which employs about 150, when the second floor gave way, Chief Harris said. Two of the four hurt were released from the hospital after treatment.

The police chief said he did not know what caused the collapse.

Clothing Price Control Eased By OPA Rule

New Order Changes Method of Comput- ing Ceiling.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration today abandoned its effort to hold prices on women's, girls' and children's fall and winter clothing to the levels of last fall's selling season.

The order, rewritten almost section by section, now permits manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers to charge actual cost, plus the same percentage markup, or margin, as they charged last fall on the same classes of coats, suits and dresses.

In other words, increased costs of labor and materials will be passed on to the ultimate consumer instead of being absorbed by the manufacturer or dealer.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson said, however, that the consumer would be protected by certain restrictions on the costs which the manufacturer is allowed to use in calculating his ceiling price. Apparel trade circles claimed the original order, issued last month, was unworkable, because it insisted that 1942 fall garments be "substantially equal" in workmanship and quality, and identical in price, to last year's. Cost increases during the last year, they contended, would have to be offset because they were too large to be absorbed.

OPA's new price formula gave tacit assent to this view, but in a significant clause provided that labor's costs must be computed on the wage rates paid on March 31 of this year.

The revised order retains the original prohibition against any seller handling a higher priced line than the highest one offered for sale by him during the last fall season. The regulation becomes effective June 15.

Modification of this order does not represent abandonment by OPA of its flatly stated policy of refusing to permit any puncture of the universal price ceiling issued in April, which fixed maximum prices at the highest levels of March. The new regulation affects only seasonal garments, which were not sold generally in March and which required special price treatment.

Henderson Opposes Freezing Wages

CHICAGO, June 10.—(AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson told the National Association of Retail Grocers today he favored wage stabilization but opposed wage freezing.

His position was outlined to the Association's 45th annual convention in a message read by Hector Lazo, chief of the trade relations branch of the Office of Price Administration. Henderson was scheduled to appear in person, but was unable to do so because of his appearance before a congressional committee today on behalf of an appropriation for OPA's budget.

Russian Navy's Organ Tells of Midway Battle

MOSCOW, June 10.—(AP)—Red Fleet, organ of the Soviet Navy, today devoted almost half a page to the United States naval victory in the Battle of Midway Island.

The newspaper published two columns of press comment from the United States and England, pointing out the Japanese aimed to take the mid-Pacific base for an attack on the American continent but that the United States armed forces were fully prepared.

LAGRANGE, Ga., June 10.—The June 10, 1942, session of the LAGRANGE city court is still in session, after convening Monday for the criminal docket. Judge V. T. Tuggle is in the chair, with Solicitor Leon Meadows in charge of prosecution. The docket is light.

Czech Village Wiped Out

Himmler vowed complete revenge on his killers. The slaughter of Lidice was his macabre sequel.

The Prague broadcasts did not give the number of men of the village who were shot. It said the women had been sent to a concentration camp and the children to "educational centers." Then the Nazis removed the name of the village from their records.

Besides being accused of hiding Heydrich's slayers, the population of the village was accused in the broadcast of having "committed other hostile acts such as keeping an illegal dump of ammunition and arms and maintaining an illegal transmitter."

Before this had happened, the Germans had executed 275 Czechs for the assassination of Heydrich, and it was apparent from German advices received today in Switzerland that a new wave of punitive measures is on the way, not only in Czechoslovakia but in other occupied countries.

New Terror Campaign.

Prague, Paris, Amsterdam, all Poland and Yugoslavia probably will be the first to feel the chill of this new terror campaign, it was indicated in German advices reaching Bern.

Of the half-million Europeans already believed dead by the hand of the Nazi executioner, approximately 5 per cent were wiped out in mass "reprisal" killings of hostages. The remainder, including many women, were executed on various charges, such as sabotage, plotting and aiding the enemy.

The Norwegian, Belgian and Netherlands governments and the Free French Committee here said the increased tempo of executions in the past few weeks indicated resistance to the Germans was increasing in direct ratio to the shootings.

The governments, in estimating the number killed, did not consider "the countless thousands who have died in concentration camps or from ill treatment and hunger as a result of the 'New Order.'"

The Yugoslav government estimated 350,000 killed in Yugoslavia alone, and the Polish government said 90,000 Poles had been executed. They attributed the stupendous totals to German massacres of "entire villages in attempts to wipe out guerrilla activity."

THEY FERRY THE BOMBERS—Chester Morris and John Hubbard play the roles of dare-devil airmen who pilot the giant flying fortresses across the Atlantic, via the Panama Canal Zone. Harriet Hilliard plays the feminine lead. The picture is "Canal Zone" and it opens at the Rialto theater today.

Japs Suffered Huge Losses in Rout at Midway

Uncle Remus Book by A. B. Frost and a painting by Costigan.

Two paintings by Thomas Weeden are given to the Atlanta Art Association. Should it decline to accept them, the will provides that they go to Mrs. Hinman's sister, Kathrin Hand Rawson.

To her son, Mrs. Hinman also left her home at 19 Vernon road during his lifetime and an annuity of $300 per month for life. She authorized her executor, the Trust Company of Georgia, to increase this at its discretion to $800 per month.

In the event of her son's death, the will provides that a trust fund of at least as many times $75,000 as there are surviving children, if any, be set up for their benefit.

After his death, the will provides that half of the estate be divided equally between Judson Hand Corrigan, George Hinman Carter, Florence Hand, Judson L. Hand, Hollis Rawson and Lucia Rawson.

The remainder is to be divided as follows: 12 1/2 per cent to the First Presbyterian church of Atlanta, the income to be used to aid poor and deserving persons; 6 1/4 per cent to the Rabun Gap-Nacoochee school, or, if it is not in existence at the time of her son's death, to a similar institution carrying on like work in the mountains of north Georgia; 6 1/4 per cent to Wesleyan College to add to its scholarship fund for worthy girls; and the other 25 per cent to the Atlanta Art Association.

Mrs. Hinman in her will declared she wished her fortune to be used "to serve humanity and society" and "for the relief of human suffering and the benefit of mankind."

A trust fund of $40 per month was provided for a servant and $5,000 was bequeathed to her nurse. Various objects of art, each "representing a cherished memory," were to be distributed among friends and relatives.

The will included an estimate of the total value of the estate.

Walter Nash, New Zealand minister to the United States, asserted that the chief executive's account was "full of good news right through."

"It was as good as we've had—perhaps the best we've had," he added. "We could do with another one like it."

Asked what the council's reaction was, he grinned broadly and replied: "You can guess that."

Navy Mothers To Sell Buttons To Aid Troops

Funds To Help Provide Entertainment for Boys in Transit.

A drive to sell Army, Navy and Marine buttons so that men in the service will have a few comforts and luxuries of life while passing through Atlanta, will be conducted on the downtown streets all day Saturday by the business women of the Atlanta Navy Mothers Club, it was announced yesterday.

Volunteers will offer the buttons for sale—and the money will be used by the Navy Mothers Club to buy cigarettes, candy, gum, soft drinks, testaments, theater tickets, for men in transit. The club members also will send telegrams for the boys, take them on sight-seeing trips here, and help them out with traveling expenses in case some of them are without funds while here.

Mrs. E. B. Jones, second vice commander of the club, and Mrs. E. G. Brooks, financial and budget chairman, asked that organizations interested in helping with the campaign send volunteers to the lobby of the Henry Grady hotel between 7 and 8 o'clock Saturday morning for instructions and buttons. Mrs. Jones said the club will pay carriers and give lunch to volunteer workers, and will award two prizes for the top sales.

77 Texas Cadets Form First Unit Of Navy School

First Pre-Flight Group, Named for Dead Comrade, Arrives at Athens

ATHENS, Ga., June 10.—(AP)—Seventy-seven Texans—recruited as a unit from Dallas and surrounding areas—came here tonight bearing the name of a dead Texas comrade as the Navy's first contingent of preflight cadets.

Enlisted as the Joe Smartt squadron, the unit carries on for Ensign Joe Smartt, who was killed in action when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor last December 7.

As the aviation preflight school arranged to log-in the squadron, Captain C. E. Smith, commandant, disclosed that two Texas classmates of Joe Smartt had asked and been granted assignment as the unit's platoon officers. Heading the first platoon of 39 men will be Lieutenant (JG) Ned L. McDonald, of the military staff, who played football with Smartt when he was a freshman at the University of Texas. Heading the second unit of 38 will be Ensign Wilburn O. Echols, a classmate of Smartt after he transferred to Southern Methodist University.

Spend-To-Get-Rich Keynes Made Baron

LONDON, June 10.—(AP)—John Maynard Keynes, the international economist and wartime advocate of "forced savings," tonight was made a baron—the sole peer on the annual king's birthday honors list.

Sharing interest on the list was Admiral Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham, sailor hero of the Mediterranean battle of Matapan. Admiral Cunningham was elevated to a baronetcy.

Keynes' theories on deficit spending by governments for the purpose of overcoming depression are regarded in some circles to have been a basis for the New Deal's original spending policies. He drafted inter-allied loan arrangements after the last war and in 1919 wrote his best known book, "The Economic Consequences of the Peace." Last year, he conferred with United States government authorities in Washington on lease-lend and other matters.

Acting Air Marshal Arthur Harris, chief of the RAF bomber command and father of the 1,000-plane raids on Germany, was made Knight Commander of the Bath and Air Chief Marshal Sir Charles Portal, head of the RAF, was raised to Knight Grand Cross of the Bath.

New knights bachelors included the film producer, Alexander Korda, the airplane manufacturer, Charles Fairey and Frederick Handley Page, and the pioneer of radio-location, Robert Watson Watt.

Sir Gerald Campbell, former director of the British information service in the United States, and Sir Frederick Phillips, treasury representative in the United States, were raised to Knight Grand Cross of St. Michael and St. George.

Unemployment Payments Near Total of 1941

Huie Attributes Increased Claims to Priorities, Shutdowns.

Commissioner of Labor Ben T. Huie yesterday announced that unemployment insurance paid under the state unemployment compensation law passed the $13,000,000 mark at the end of May, while the unemployment trust fund contained some $34,700,000 for this exclusive purpose. Payments for the month amounted to $412,176 and brought the total for the first five months of 1942 to $2,381,480, or within approximately $700,000 of the total amount paid out in 1941.

The volume of payments this year was attributed to the unemployment of workers resulting from priorities, plant conversion and seasonal shutdowns, and a substantial increase in the average size of weekly payments due to liberalization of benefits by the last legislature. Payments have averaged about $8.96 this year. A considerable number of workers qualified for almost the maximum weekly amount of $18 and received benefit checks for almost the maximum duration of 16 weeks.

Huie said less initial claims for benefits were filed by workers in May than in any month in the history of the state bureau. The total was reported at 4,864, as compared with a previous low of 5,283 in September of 1941. Continued claims at 43,125 were the lowest since December of last year.

By industry divisions, payments for the month were as follows: Manufacturing, $211,901.50; construction, $81,992; trade, $77,115; transportation and communication, $18,051; service, $14,387; finance, $8,204; agriculture, $1,356; mining, $1,170.

Madame Chiang Kai-shek To Greet Wellesley Alumnae

• • • AT 10:45 O'CLOCK next Saturday morning Wellesley College alumnae all over the United States will gather in groups to hear the voice of their most distinguished member—indeed, the voice of the world's most important woman today—that of Madame Chiang Kai-shek, speaking via radio from her home in China. The occasion will be the celebration of the twenty-fifth reunion of the class of 1917 at Wellesley, and many of her classmates will assemble that day on the beautiful college campus to hear her message, which will doubtless be fraught with sentiment in reminiscing of the "good old days" at Wellesley.

The Atlanta Wellesley Club, of which Mrs. Harrie Ansley is president, will meet with Mrs. James Selva at her home in the Biltmore apartments to hear the broadcast which will come from Chungking over a nation-wide hookup, and will be heard locally over station WGST.

The New York alumnae have planned a luncheon in the ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria in celebration of the day, with Mrs. Maurice Moore presiding and introducing her sister-in-law, Claire Boothe, as toastmistress. Of course you remember the charming Mrs. Moore who was the featured speaker at the Y. W. C. A.'s annual dinner here in the spring. Other speakers she will introduce include such eminent personages as Lin Yutang, Mrs. C. L. Hsia, and Owen Lattimore, who is personal political adviser to Madame Chiang's husband, the generalissimo of the Chinese army.

Another large group who will be particularly interested in hearing Madame Chiang will be the alumnae of Wesleyan College at Macon, where the speaker, as Mayling Soong, matriculated for a preparatory course as a child of 11. Both her sisters, Madame Sun Yat Sen and Madame H. H. Kuhn, are Wesleyan graduates, and no one will be more intent than will Wesleyan alumnae on hearing Madame Chiang's appeal to American women. Her listeners everywhere will be permitted to contribute to a nation-wide fund, sponsored by the Wellesley Alumnae Association, which will express admiration of her distinguished leadership, in addition to a staunch belief in the cause of China.

• • • WHEN Josiah Wedgwood, of England, designed his famous china, it is doubtful if, even in his wildest dreams, he suspected that his platters might be used in the serving of 25-cent lunches. But recently workers in the Red Cross canteen on Peachtree were asked to arrange several of their special 25-cent lunches on exquisite Wedgwood plates borrowed from Porter & Porter's show windows.

It happened like this: When the canteen introduced its new economy lunches, it was besieged with orders. In fact, so many orders were placed that there were no more plates in the kitchen on which to serve the food.

No sooner had the workers discovered the scarcity of plates than an errand boy from the exclusive decorating shop arrived to buy lunches for personnel members who were too busy to go out for luncheon. A canteen worker explained apologetically that she could not fill the order, due to a lack of plates.

The boy disappeared, and returned a few moments later with several exquisite Wedgwood plates. The Porter & Porter employees were not to be outdone. They dined like royalty!

• • • AN INTERESTING and attractive visitor here last weekend was Don P. Clark, of Hartford, Conn., and Fort Benning, who with Freddie Fisher, of Miami, and Bob Austin, of Boston, Mass., were the guests of Avritt Brown at his home in Smyrna.

Don is entering his third year with Uncle Sam's armed forces, having relinquished his plans for a dance career. In preparation for his career, Don was one of the leading figures in the Little Theater group of Hartford, as well as premier dancer with the ballet. He served as president of the dance group for three years, and took an active part in eastern theatrical affairs.

Freddie and Bob are also stationed at Benning, and are weekend guests here as often as military regulations permit.

Maple Grove 86 Holds Meeting.

The Maple Grove No. 86, Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, met recently at the Red Men's Wigwam, with Mrs. Ruth Bowers, acting guardian, presiding.

Mrs. Lona Schenck was welcomed into the grove as a new member and will receive the initiatory degree on June 18. A milk shower was given for Grady Hospital Auxiliary, to be used for the underprivileged children of the clinic.

A spend-the-day sewing party, honoring the Loyalty Club of Maple Grove 86, was given yesterday at the home of Mrs. Ruth Bowers, on Lockwood drive, S. W. Mrs. Lona Schenck was co-hostess assisting Mrs. Bowers. The business session was presided over by Mrs. Sarah McGarity, the chairman.

This evening the Dora Alexander Talley Guards of Maple Grove No. 86 will sponsor a benefit supper at the home of their captain, Miss Myrtle Hardy, at 1384 Beecher street, S. W., at 6:30 o'clock. Reservations should be made by calling Raymond 6991.

Mrs. J. C. Martin will entertain at luncheon tomorrow at her home on Amsterdam avenue for members of the board of the Georgia Woman's Democratic Club.

Miss Asbury Feted At Final Parties

Miss Jane Asbury, whose marriage to Lieutenant Carlton Ghesling will be an event of today, continues to be feted at a round of parties. One of the loveliest affairs in honor of this bride-to-be was the handkerchief shower given by Mrs. Jimmie Tawser at her home on Wycliff road.

On Monday Miss Mary Louise Bailey entertained at a luncheon in honor of Miss Asbury at the Capital City Club. Those present were Mesdames J. J. Beavers, Henley McCoy, Carlton Ghesling Sr., H. N. Asbury and Misses Frances Cannon, Jane Asbury, Mary Anne Atkins.

Mrs. J. H. Kinn III, of Anniston, Ala., entertained at a luncheon yesterday in the Paradise room of the Henry Grady for Miss Asbury. Invited were Mesdames L. S. Fischer, P. L. T. Beavers, of Birmingham, Ala.; H. N. Asbury, H.

Mrs. Brandon and Mr. Hulsey Are Wed at Quiet Ceremony

An announcement of paramount social interest due to the prominence of the principals is made today of the marriage of Mrs. Harriett Inman Brandon to Elie B. Hulsey, which took place yesterday afternoon.

The ceremony was performed at the Brandon home on West Pace's Ferry road by the Rev. William V. Gardner, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. He officiated at 5:30 o'clock in the presence of only members of the two families. The bride was handsomely

C. Ghesling Sr., Jimmie Tawser and Misses Katherine Bond, Eva Morrison and Betty McDonald. Last evening Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ghesling entertained the wedding party and out-of-town guests following the rehearsal.

Modena-Ehrhardt Wedding Planned

Wedding plans are announced for the marriage on Saturday afternoon of Miss Florence Modena and Clarence T. Ehrhardt Jr. The ceremony will take place at the Cathedral of Christ the King at 5:30 o'clock and will be followed by a reception at the home of her parents on Peachtree road.

Miss Modena will be given in marriage by her father, I. M. Sheffield, and her only attendant will be her sister, Miss Genevieve Modena acting as maid of honor. Campbell McKay will be best man. The ushers will be William Franklin, Adolphe Michel, Dr. William S. Taylor and Sam Wood.

Two lovely parties were given recently honoring this popular couple. A buffet supper was given by Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Smith Jr. at their home on Rock Springs road. Sunday afternoon Mrs. I. M. Sheffield Jr., Mrs. Alfred Thompson and Mrs. George Sheffield entertained at a tea at the home of Mrs. Sheffield on Peachtree Battle

Capital City Club To Open Gala Informal Season Tonight

The Capital City Country Club at Brookhaven will open its informal summer season this evening with a dinner-dance held on the breeze-swept terrace, the affair to assemble 200 members of fashionable society.

Dinner will be served at flower-bedecked tables placed at intervals, and a popular orchestra will play for dancing. The party, which inaugurates a series of informal dinner-dances to be held each Thursday evening throughout the summer, alternating between the country club and town club, is one of the highlights of avenue. One hundred guests were invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ehrhardt will entertain members of the bridal party with a buffet supper Friday evening after the wedding rehearsal at their home on Paines road.

This week's social calendar. The management of the club announces that the Sunday evening concerts, which won popularity at the country club last summer, will be resumed on Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

Those entertaining at parties will include Mr. and Mrs. Louis Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Yancey Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Francis Dwyer, James G. Stradling Jr., Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Kalkurst, C. G. Voorhes, Miss Mary Louise Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Healey, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Currie, W. A. Boykin, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cooleage, J. A. Byers, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Pritchett, Lieutenant W. K. Nealon, of Lawson General Hospital; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Selva, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hodgson, Mr. and Mrs. W. Eugene Harrington, Miss Anne Eagan and Miss Elizabeth Brown.

M-G-M Loses No Time In Picking "I Dood It" For a Movie Title

By Louella Parsons.

HOLLYWOOD, June 10.—You've all met Anthony Quinn, the actor. Now permit me to introduce Anthony Quinn, author of plays, short stories, a novel and a movie epic. The young man, born in Mexico, and married to C. B. DeMille's daughter, Katherine, has been writing under a nom de plume. His plays, "Clean Beds" and "Thirty-three Men," were produced at little theaters. His book, "The Wind is Rising," a novel in which a history of the tango is incorporated, is due for publication.

His movie, "The Tango," sold to Milton Sperling for Twentieth Century-Fox, is taken from that book and is a story of the tango in which two brothers are starved. Anthony plays one of the brothers and Cesar Romero the other. Since he only writes when the inspiration comes, Quinn prefers to be known as an actor. His nom de plume, he says, is unimportant.

Wouldn't you know that M-G-M would take up Red Skelton's cute "Tattle" cry, "I Dood It" for the title of one of his pictures sooner or later. Well, it will be sooner because right now Producer Jack Cummings has a clan of gag writers busier than the proverbial little bees whipping up a movie for Red with this title. It was always funny on his air show and the college kids took it up right away.

But it didn't become the next best thing to a national slogan until a Los Angeles Evening Herald-Express headline writer tied it up with Brigadier General Jimmy Doolittle's Tokyo thriller as "Doodlittle Dood It." Red's pretty wife, Edna, was the original thinker-upper of the "Dood It" gag—so why doesn't M-G-M put her to work on the movie?

Music means more during war days than at any other time. And Sol Lesser feels that he has grabbed the patriotic score to top all patriotic scores in Leith Stevens' "America Fighting" for Sol's "Stage Door Canteen." Designed as a "Native War Symphony," the original composition embodies all our famous camp fire melodies and martial airs from the Revolution through the War Between the States and first World War down to the present conflict. A word about Stevens: He established his reputation via the radio, but he wasn't known to pictures until he scored "Syncopation." That wasn't the best picture of the year by a wide margin—but the musical score has brought plenty of praise to the young composer.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Hedy Lamarr and John Howard are back where they started before the George Montgomery era; Dick Hyland, sports writer, and Ann Stanton, former Powers model, will marry any day. He was once married to Adela Rogers St. John, famed novelist.

Bettye Avery, who left Joe Brown after a few weeks of marriage, is now stepping out with Alex Thompson, New York man-of-money. Here's a surprising twosome—Merrill Pye, former Easnor Powell heart-beat, and Linda Brent, dining and dancing at the Billmore Bowl; Russell Phelps, veteran publicity man, has had a relapse and is in the Veterans' hospital. It would be nice if his friends would send him a line. Paul Muni is in town to start conferences on "The Com-mandos." Louis Hayward has joined the marines and is waiting for his official call; that's all today. See you tomorrow! But M-Zelle Britton, New York, says: "Tell your readers to buy bonds because the money they're saving keeps Old Glory waving."

Your Horoscope For Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS.

What today means to you if you were born between:

March 21st and April 19th (ARIES)—The most favorable time for you to take important action along all lines will be after 12:30 noon. You can do some very constructive work in matters of finance, personal advancement, constructive planning for future prospects.

April 20th and May 20th (TAURUS)—The morning hours and until 3:14 p. m. favor developments that require much activity. Benefits may be derived through correspondence, travel, shipping, liquids and general business.

May 21st and June 20th (GEMINI)—Before 4:30 p. m. many of your ideas will be worth putting to the test of experience, for you will be filled with considerable intuition as to what is the right thing to do.

June 21st and July 22nd (CANCER)—Previous to 10:15 a. m. you will not get the approval or cooperation in work that demands inspiration, seek to interest others in your ideas before 1:30 p. m.

July 23rd and August 22nd (LEO)—If you want the approval or cooperation in work that demands inspiration, seek to interest others in your ideas before 1:30 p. m.

August 23rd and September 22nd (VIRGO)—Previous to 10 a. m. you should endeavor to get in your best work for the day, for you can undertake affairs that will be substantial and lasting.

September 23rd and October 22nd (LIBRA)—Combined influences for the entire day will cause those around you to demand haste, force and thereby bring on much aggressiveness and miscalculation.

October 23rd and November 21st (SCORPIO)—Before 4:18 p. m. is a splendid time to obtain the advice of sober and sane counsel. This is a favorable time to understand affairs that require tact and diplomacy.

November 22nd and December 21st (SAGITTARIUS)—This is a splendid day, but you will have to do something about it. For instance, you may be so contented that contentment can lapse into laziness.

December 22nd and January 19th (CAPRICORN)—Before 4:30 p. m. is an auspicious period for meetings, conferences, plans and projects both of a social and business nature.

January 20th and February 18th (AQUARIUS)—The entire morning and until 2:11 p. m. is a most favorable period for work that requires patience, seriousness and where organizing ability is needed. Firm and lasting friendships or deals may be consummated at this time.

February 19th and March 20th (PISCES)—The entire day is more suitable for relaxing your efforts. However, you are likely to feel an impatience or try to do too much.

Special Gifts for the Father Away From Home

By Winifred Ware.

Father's Day this year holds more significance than ever before for many heads of families this year are away from home, separated from their loved ones by war. Either in active service or in defense jobs in strange cities, they will look forward to the expressions of affection from their children. And, so, particularly with these away-from-home fathers in mind, I have visited stores which are this year featuring a wide assortment of gifts which will please any father.

1. A leather kit, lined with a waterproof material and containing a pocket for soap, washrag or any other small, wet article, is pictured here. It has an amazing amount of room, yet, when closed and zipped up, is small and compact and no more trouble to carry than a newspaper. In a variety of colors and qualities of leathers and fabrics. The one pictured is in maroon top grain leather and sells for $6.50.

2. For the man who is soon leaving or who is already in camp, this handy sewing kit is ideal. Designed for both Army and Navy, the kit contains scissors, needles, thimble, buttons and thread of various colors. The Navy kit pictured here has blue, black, white and khaki thread. A similar kit for Army men has a preponderance of khaki. Price is only $1.25.

3. For the man who suddenly finds himself fumbling around for those many passes which he has to show to get him into the plant where he works, or other identification cards, this bill is the perfect answer. Made of a good leather, it is an ordinary billfold, with an extra little card case, which snaps to the wallet. There is room for a dozen cards, any one of which is instantly visible because the little clear plastic envelope in which the cards are placed are bound together like the pages of a book. And the grandest thing about this is that the card case can be unsnapped and shown at any time while the billfold containing your money stays safely in your pocket.

4. For the man who travels or whose living quarters are small, this handsome robe is the perfect gift. Of a printed rayon in a variety of colors and patterns, it folds into a neat little envelope of matching material about nine inches square and less than two inches thick. Available for only $5.95.

5. For any Army man, and particularly for officers, this handsome leather manicure case is an ideal token of affection. It contains a good pair of scissors, tweezers, a file and a comb, and is no larger than the palm of your hand. It is real streamlining efficiency, the kind the Army likes. Price $2.50.

6. For any man who values his appearance, this belt buckle set is what he has been wanting. Made by a firm which makes the cases is a stunning cigaret box, and when the cloth lining is removed (it just lifts out), I predict it will find its place in the living room rather than atop father's bureau. Its price is $11.50, including tax.

9. Jokes have been made about giving poor father ties, but there will be no facetious remarks made if you choose one or two of these ties. They are made entirely of nylon in lovely figured materials which you can't tell from silk. And they have the superb advantage of being 100 per cent washable. Nylon is that kind of fabric. It washes and always looks brand-new. And best of all, because of the chemical properties of nylon fabrics, no pressing is required. When wet, nylon looks hopelessly wrinkled, but as the fabric dries (and what a short time it takes) the wrinkles all come out and the original shape of the garment is there. You really ought not to deny father the opportunity to wear these lovely ties and when they are priced at only $1 each, there is no reason why he should not have many of them. For the names of stores carrying all

7. All service men want a shoe-shine kit, for, regardless of how muddy the trek the day before, shoes must be mirror-like each morning. This kit contains the proper kind of clothes, brushes and buffers, as well as a huge tin of polish. A practical khaki cloth kit contains articles and the kit is priced at $1.25.

8. This is a handsome gift which will benefit mother as much as father, if mother is smart! It's a handsome, hard-carved teakwood chest containing a sterling silver-backed brush and a silver-topped comb. Truly a fine gift of the well-groomed man. And here's where mother comes in. The chest merchandise pictured here call Winifred Ware at Walnut 6565. If you live out of town, write her, care The Constitution.

You can help fight this war from your kitchen—even as others fight from foxholes. For fighting men must be armed by thrifty civilians. Buy War Bonds and Stamps with your household savings.

How To Reduce Food Waste

By Ida Jean Kain.

If I were to ask you right to your face whether you waste food, I can just imagine your indignation. Certainly, your answer would be in the negative. But there are so many ways of wasting food, and now that times are so critical, any waste on your part means private for someone.

Thrifty homemakers are learning to use every part of the vegetables that can be prepared so that it is edible and tasty. You probably know about beet tops—and they are a potent source of vitamin A. One-half cup of beet tops contains 1,200 units of this vitamin. But what about the tops of turnips and your carrots? Both are good greens.

And speaking of greens, do you peel off the outer leaves of celery, cabbage and lettuce? Nutritionally, these are the best part of the vegetables. You don't need any tips on which to do with the cabbage and lettuce. But you might like to try using the outer stalks of celery for soups and broths.

It is a waste of vegetables to over-cook them, to add soda to them, or to throw out the water in which they are cooked. If you want to lose most of the vitamin in tomatoes, just let them stew away on the stove. And if you want the vitamins in green vegetables not to be worth a cent, serve them for a few days at room temperature.

You waste your money by making a poor choice food. There is so little health and strength in the highly refined foods that you should demand and insist on the whole grain or the newly enriched breads, flours, and ready-to-eat and to-be-cooked cereals.

It's a waste of time and energy about the sugar rationing. Do you have any idea how much sugar we have to have? None. Serve more fruits to your family. These make good desserts and they furnish their share of the day's minerals and vitamins. Sugar never furnished anything but calories.

One of the most appalling wastes of food money is the menu-planner's failure to buy meals that are high in the protective vitamins, minerals and protein. Those three food elements are called essentials for a good reason. They are absolutely essential to the well being of the individual and the family.

Wasting food is practically the same as wasting money itself. Most Americans would be better off if they would eat a better breakfast, drink more milk, learn to like green vegetables, have more whole grain bread and cereals and fresh fruits, and stop eating according to the whim of the moment.

Some Helps for Victims of Glaucoma

By Dr. William Brady.

In a talk about "hardening of the eye" (glaucoma) the other day we explained the nature of the condition and told why the question of wearing glasses and the right lenses to wear should be left to the judgment and advice of the eye physician, especially

As a rule progress of the trouble is retarded and loss of sight minimized by the instillation of medicine in the eyes several times a day to keep the pupils contracted and the iris drawn away from the canal where drainage from the eyeball normally goes on constantly to keep pressure within the eyeball from becoming too high. In glaucoma the drainage or circulation through this canal is impeded by dilation of the pupil and pushing forward of the lens. The patient may keep fairly comfortable for years by constant uses of such drops, under the oculist's direction.

If such treatment fails to check the progress of the disease, as shown by increasing difficulty in vision, operative treatment should be had before the sight becomes too greatly impaired. There is seldom any chance of restoring that part of the field of vision which has been lost as a result of the glaucoma. The best patient can expect from operative treatment for glaucoma is arrest of the disease so that the patient retains what vision remains at the time the operation is done.

Without professing to have any expert knowledge of glaucoma, but basing the suggestions on a survey of recent medical literature relating to the subject, I offer victims of glaucoma the following:

1. Be sure to get an optimal daily ration of vitamin C—preferably by eating plenty of fresh fruit or drinking fresh fruit juices—orange, grapefruit, lemon, cherry, peach, strawberry, tomato, etc.

2. Indulge in salty foods—fish, cheese, milk, meats naturally containing considerable salt, and dishes to which extra salt is added.

ed. Also use salt freely as a condiment at table.

3. Avoid dark rooms and movements—dilation of the pupils in the dark causes rise in tension in the eyes.

4. Avoid cathartic or laxative pills containing belladonna—atropine (in belladonna) favors dilation of pupils and increase of tension in eyes.

5. Avoid nose drops containing adrenalin—this, too, increases tension in the eyes.

6. Avoid coffee and tea—both tend to increase tension in the eyes.

Screven where he is a member of the Quartermasters Corps.

Lieutenant Van Houten received a B. S. degree in 1930 from Georgia School of Technology where he majored in commerce.

After graduation, Van Houten worked for Western Union Telegraph Company, then was connected with Marist College for seven years, as athletic director, coach of all sports and a teacher of commercial subjects.

Having received a commission as second lieutenant on May 1, 1939, Lieutenant Van Houten was called to active duty at Fort Benning on December 22, 1940, being assigned as post athletic director. Before his transfer to Fort Screven last March he took the South-eastern Golden Glove winners to New York. One of his boxers reached the semifinals.

At present, Van Houten is inventory officer, classification officer, public relations officer and assistant property officer.

Women's Golf Meet Starts Here Monday

Georgia's women golfers are doing everything they can to adapt their program to the altered war-time conditions.

The state championship tournament—the 13th annual—starts next Monday over the East Lake Country Club's No. 2 course.

It was originally planned for the Augusta Country Club. Then came fire and gas rationing and the switch to more centrally located Atlanta was agreed on.

Now comes announcement that the regulation requiring a residence in the state of at least six months to play is out for the duration.

Any women golfers who may have moved to Georgia in the last 15 months may skip out to East Lake Monday and enter the tournament. Street car service is available to the club gates. Qualifying play for all flights will be staged Monday. Each flight, including the championship bracket, will be made up of 16 competitors. The finals are down to Friday at 18 holes.

Dorothy Kirby, defending champion, will not participate, having arranged to enter the Women's Western at Chicago. Her absence will leave Southern Champion Louise Suggs, of Lithia Springs, as the top favorite. Miss Kirby defeated Miss Suggs in last year's finals.

Women have arranged numerous other events such as putting and approaching contests as side features.

All in the Game

By JACK TROY

Chandler Stars The Yankees are doing so very well in the American League that one is prone to overlook the feats of individual performers. Take Spurgeon Chandler. The Carnesville plowboy is mowing down New York rivals.

He's won 17 of the last 19 games he has pitched, including last year's games. Here's how it went: He lost four in a row at the start of the '41 season and then took 10 straight for a record of 10 and 4. I saw him in action in the World Series when he lost to Whitlow Wyatt, another Georgian, in the only game won by Brooklyn.

This year Chandler won two straight, lost one and now has won five in a row for a record of 7 and 1. And he has been allowing only a run a game in the last three or four times out.

All the talk's about Ernie Bonham, but actually Chandler's having a great year.

The great DiMaggio is not justifying, as a batsman, all the squawk he put up over salary. How they're getting him out is not very definite. One writer said he couldn't hit a pitch low and outside.

That kind of a pitch, properly controlled, will get out most any batter.

It is well for the American League welfare that all the Yankees aren't starring at the same time.

Who'll Win 30? Now and then writers will argue that all a good modern pitcher needs to win 30 or more games in a season—in the majors—is a good team behind him. They insist he'll have plenty of opportunity to work.

Bob Grove, last of the 30-game winners in the American League, averaged pitching more than 43 games a season.

Before Bob Feller joined the Navy he had won 25 games one year for Cleveland. He might easily have won 30 for the Yankees.

It may be that all a great modern pitcher needs is an outstanding team behind him—because of the theory that the opportunity to win the games will be provided. But what of Whitlow Wyatt and Kirby Higbe? They had a good dodger club working in their behalf. They won 22 games apiece. Feller topped 25 in spite of a folding Cleveland club.

Thornton Lee won 22 last year, being the only other hurler in either league to reach the 20 mark.

Were not the Yankees great last year? And did not many members of the staff have unlimited opportunity to pitch?

The point is, I don't think, in this day of the lively ball, that a big league pitcher is apt to win 30 games, regardless of team. A pitcher is asked to bear down too hard. He can't afford to ease up on anybody.

Feller might have done it with the Yankees. But he is an exception.

In Short Arriving at the office yesterday, I found the following communication:

"Dear Mr. Troy:

"From the big dictionary:

"Carafe: a glass water bottle for the table. A small decanter.

"Serape: a blanket or shawl worn as an outer garment by Spanish Americans.

"In the interests of journalistic purity.

"Prof. D. Glass, M. A., B. S. and S. O. S."

"Dear Dudley:

"Little as you may suspect, it is the perfect error. For many years enemies of Joe Engel have insisted he ought to wear a carafe draped around his ears. Then, too, he was a bottle-fed baby. But whoever claimed he is a 'bottle-scarred' veteran is off base. Next time we make any reference to the Latin leader of the Latin Lookouts, one Joe Engel, we'll try to dress him in the proper South American manner. Respectfully,

"Student J. Troy, D. U., M. B.

Eddie Phillips, once a Cracker catcher, told off Greenville, S. C., directors the other day. But, instead of getting the gate, Eddie's getting some more players.

Merriwell Finish Gives Lookouts Opener

Stein's 3-Run Homer in 9th Ties Game, 4-4

10th Inning Run Beats Mertz After Fine Hurling Job.

By JACK TROY.

Constitution Sports Editor.

Chattanooga came as close to getting beat as it is possible for a team to do and then charged back from the brink of disaster to win the opening game of the Cracker series, 5 to 4, on a Merriwell finish last night—Shrine Night—at Ponce de Leon park.

The Latin Lookouts, with Latin leader, Jose Engel, leading the cheers, got back in the game in the ninth inning on a mighty wallop by Herb Stein.

There were two men out, two men on and the count was three balls and two strikes on Stein. The Crackers were leading, 4 to 1, and the crowd of almost 3,500 had begun crowding the exits. Then Stein hit an unusual lick for a righthander, a home run over the second tier of signs in right field.

So the Latin Lookouts, who had never been in the game since the fourth inning, were back on even terms, and in the 10th inning a couple of hits and a sacrifice won the game.

It was a stunning setback for young Jim Mertz, seeking his seventh win of the season. He had limited the Lookouts to four hits in eight innings. He walked a runner and allowed a scratch hit after two men were out in the ninth, setting everything up for Stein's dramatic homer.

LITTLE SLOW.

In the 10th Mertz was a little slow on fielding Ortiz' roller. Manager Swede Olson, who led off with an infield hit and advanced on a sacrifice and infield out, raced home with the winning run, and on Mertz' wild throw to first, Ortiz took second. Ed Nowak replaced Mertz and retired the side.

For Phil McCullough, former Oglethorpe pitcher, the game was pretty much in the nature of an incredible gift from Stein, who doesn't hit eighth in the batting order because of his home run ability.

The Crackers got 12 hits off McCullough.

Young Bobby Moore, making his debut at short, did all right. There were a couple of errors charged against him, but they had no bearing on the game. Bobby got a couple of hits. Naturally he needs a few games to settle down. Could be the newness wore off last night.

A bargain is offered the fans tonight, a double-header starting at 7 o'clock. And it's Ladies' Night. Rene Cortes and Emile Lochbaum will pitch for the Crackers. O' Miller and possibly Scarborough will work for the Lookouts.

The Crackers had every right to end their losing streak last night, but it has gone to four straight in eight games.

A RUN APIECE.

There was a run on each side in the first inning. Guerra was safe on an error after two were out and scored on Ortiz's triple. The Crackers evened it up as Glock scored on Scott's infield out.

The Crackers swept into the lead by a two-run margin in the fourth on singles by Bobby Moore and Thomassie and a double by Smith.

O'Brien led off the sixth with a hit and as McCullough threw wild to first, Moore laid down a fine sacrifice bunt. But Thomassie fouled out to right and O'Brien scored after Ortiz caught the ball.

In the ninth after two were out,

CAUGHT IN THE ACT—Shrine Bud Foster caught a "furriner" making love to two luscious Georgia belles last night at the Cracker ball game, and he is all for having the culprit run as far South of the Border as possible. Caught red-handed, Senor Jose Engel, prexy of those Chattanooga "Latin Lookouts," couldn't explain why he had invaded Atlanta to court Miss Pepper Rambert (second from left) and Miss Laurie Miller (extreme right), the Georgia Peaches. This was part of the hijinks which made "Shrine Night" an hilarious occasion.

Tom Jennings Pitches No-Hitter for Arrows

Western Auto Shades White, 6-5, for 23d Straight Win; Cafe, Dixie Steel Triumph.

Tom Jennings, right-handed curve-baller for the Arrow Shirts nine in the Twilight League, realized every pitcher's dream as he hurled a no-hit, no-run game against Southern Shops in the feature performance of yesterday's amateur diamond antics. Arrow smashed out 15 hits to take the contest, 7 to 0. Jennings pitched to only 22 men in the seven-inning affair and the only man to reach first base for Southern was hit by a pitched ball. On the offense, Zakas was best with a single and double and Partain, Moore and Miller got two singles apiece.

In another twilight game, league-leading Western Auto ran her string of league victories to 23 straight by shading White Providence, 6-5. Marvin Gaines gave up only eight hits to White, but was the victim of four miscues by teammates. Western clinched the game with a five-run outburst in the first frame. Bogart Malcolm banged out two triples and a single in four tries to take hitting honors for the winners. James Towns, Billy Fair and Peck Norton got two each. Pitcher Cobb Jennings hit a triple and Hughes got two singles to pace the losers.

STEELES HOME.

Bryant stole home in the fourth inning to give Rogers a 2-1 decision over General Shoe in the other Twilight League game. Chastain gave up only five safeties to the Shoemen while three hurlers held Rogers to a like number. Sewell's two triples and a single in three tries was the difference.

In the City loop, Central Cafe and Dixie Steel came through with comparatively easy victories to remain in a deadlock for first place. Central pinned down third-place Whittier Mills, 5-3, and the Steelmen whipped Lawson General Hospital, 6-2.

John Sims connected for a homer and a single and Ray Clonts for two singles to pace Central's plate power. Ray Dickey, with a triple and two singles, was best for Whittier. H. Edwards and Grier also had a pair of singles apiece for the losers.

DIXIE STEEL SLUGS.

Dixie Steel pounded out 12 hits off Dick Douthat in their victory. Gerald McDougal's three singles were best while Simonton, Campbell and Pitcher Bill Crain got two safeties each. Leonard's double and single were best for Lawson. Last-place Clarkdale went 10 innings to take their second league win from Fulton Bg. 2-1. Ragdale's double in the last of the tenth, scoring Pitcher Clayton Parris from second, was the winning margin. Ragdale, Baxter and Foster, with two hits each, paced the winners. 10-hit assault. Fowler, Kindall and Lazebny, also with two each, were best for Fulton Bg.

Roede walked and Mellendick beat out a hit to deep short. Then Stein, a right-handed batter, hit a home run over the second tier of signs in right field, knotting the score at 4-4. Mertz had given up only four hits going into the ninth.

All-Star Contest Starts

All right, baseball fans, get ready for your 1942 all-star baseball contest, sponsored by The Constitution. The idea is to pick the team nearest like the all-star club the sportswriters will select to play the team leading the Southern league on July 1. Fine prizes await winners.

The squad will consist of three catchers, five pitchers, five infielders and four outfielders. The fifth infielder may be position save first base.

Make your selection from the entire league and without regard as to the club which may be in first place on July 1. Any members of the first place club who are selected for the all-star squad will be replaced by their runners-up. Accompany the selection with a 25-word statement on my "Favorite Southern League Player and Why."

Mail your ballots to the All-Star Contest Editor, The Constitution, not later than June 20th. Winners and the all-star team will be announced Sunday, June 28.

Here are the prizes:

FIRST PRIZE: Two passes for remainder of 1942 and all of 1943 Cracker home games.

SECOND PRIZE: One pass for remainder of 1942 and all of 1943 Cracker home games.

THIRD PRIZE: Ten passes to 1942 Cracker home games.

FOURTH PRIZE: Five passes to 1942 Cracker home games.

FIFTH TO TENTH PRIZES: Two passes each to 1942 Cracker home games.

Here is the ballot:

CATCHERS:	1.....	2.....	3.....
PITCHERS:	1.....	2.....	3.....
INFELDERS:	1.....	2.....	3.....
OUTFIELDERS:	1.....	2.....	3.....

Moore, Rambert Win Field Events

In the annual Shrine field events there were the following results: Barrel Throw for Catchers: Rambert and Smith, Atlanta, first and second.

Accuracy Throw for Pitchers: Ventura, Chattanooga, first; Lochbaum, Miller, Cortes and Rambert, tied for other places.

Home Plate to First Sprint (Infielders and Catchers): Moore, Atlanta, first, and Guerra and Letchas tied for second. (For Outfielders): O'Brien and Scott, Atlanta, first and second.

Comedy baseball, with players of the teams attired in dresses and bonnets, gave the crowd a laugh, and then Senor Engel went to the microphone and interviewed the Latin cast of the Lookouts. None of it made much sense, but the purpose was served. It produced high, good humor.

Shrine units formed a V for victory at home plate. Potentate Charles Wilson welcomed the crowd, and, with the singing of "God Bless America," led by the Shrine chanters, the ceremonies ended.

T. L. Johnson and Tom Slate judged the field events.

Financial Aid To Save Small Plants Urged

WPB Official Says 24,000 Firms May Be Closed by Oct. 1.

NEW YORK, June 10.—(AP)—Government expenditure of possibly $200,000,000 annually to preserve 24,000 small manufacturing plants which may be closed by war restrictions by October 1 was urged tonight by Philip D. Reed, chief of the Bureau of Industry, branches, War Production Board.

"The future of thousands of small communities is dependent upon the existence of these private plants," the General Electric board chairman asserted in a prepared address, "and if they cannot be preserved during the war and revived when it is over, a tremendous and irremediable change will occur in the structure of the social and economic life of America."

He spoke at the commencement exercises of the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn.

Reed said the closing of approximately 24,000 plants, which in 1939 amounted to $4,000,000,000, is estimated by the Bureau of Industry branches. This is 13 percent of the 184,000 manufacturing establishments. He based his estimate of $200,000,000 annual government payments to the plants on a covering of fixed charges averaging 5 percent of their business.

Wilson To Manage Hospital at Rome

ROME, Ga., June 10.—The new Floyd county hospital, which will be formally opened early in July, will be managed by H. Louis Wilson, of Waycross, formerly of Atlanta, according to announcement of the board of trustees of the new institution.

For the past three years, Mr. Wilson has served as business manager of the Ware county hospital at Waycross, and the previous 11 years he had been connected with the Grady hospital in Atlanta. He is a native of Samson, Ala.

The board of trustees announced at the same time a number of gifts to the new hospital. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jackson gave $10,000 to furnish a private room as well as a two-bed room for the colored wing of the institution. Dr. W. H. Lewis, chairman of the county board of roads and revenue, is furnishing a private room as a personal gift to the hospital. The American Legion and auxiliary have contributed $200 for equipment of a private room, and the Rome Elks lodge some time ago contributed $1,500 for equipping a modern fracture room in the new hospital.

Girl Scout Camp Is To Open Soon

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.

ROME, Ga., June 10.—Camp Gazette Dew for Girl Scouts will open June 21. Miss Lottie Neese serving as director. It was announced today. Miss Neese served as director of the local camp years ago and she has also been director of Camp Juliet Lowe and Camp Civitan.

Other members of the staff at Camp Gazette Dew will be Misses Jean Leakey, Mary Scurry, Mary Doyle Moore, Myra Sharp, Anne Betts, Jerry Hulsey and Margaret Glavin.

Situated in a beautiful mountain section of northwest Georgia within the Chattahoochee National Forest, the camp site has been cleared of underbrush and the lake has been cleared for the new season.

What Stocks Did.

NEW YORK, June 10.—(AP)—Influenced by weakness in American Telephone, stock market prices today receded a little more from the recently established May-June rally peaks.

Telephone fell about 4 points in the first hour and retrieved only a small part of the loss in the later dealings. Westinghouse, Eastman Kodak, Philip Morris and Union Carbide closed 1 to 3 lower.

Elsewhere the declines were fractional and a few issues had small final gains.

On the basis of its action Tuesday market followers were prepared for some further retreat in prices as a technical adjustment after a fairly long advance.

Bonds stood ground on balance and commodities mostly were higher. Higher in the curb were International Petroleum, Gulf Oil, American Light & Traction and Cyanamid of America. American Humble Oil recorded declines.

What Stocks Did.

NEW YORK, June 10.—(AP)—Influenced by weakness in American Telephone, stock market prices today receded a little more from the recently established May-June rally peaks.

Telephone fell about 4 points in the first hour and retrieved only a small part of the loss in the later dealings. Westinghouse, Eastman Kodak, Philip Morris and Union Carbide closed 1 to 3 lower.

Elsewhere the declines were fractional and a few issues had small final gains.

On the basis of its action Tuesday market followers were prepared for some further retreat in prices as a technical adjustment after a fairly long advance.

Bonds stood ground on balance and commodities mostly were higher. Higher in the curb were International Petroleum, Gulf Oil, American Light & Traction and Cyanamid of America. American Humble Oil recorded declines.

Flag Day To Be Observed

Mayor Hartsfield has set Sunday as Flag Day in Atlanta and urged citizens to join the remainder of the nation in honoring the American flag and the flags of the 26 nations who joined in signing the declaration of the United Nations in the fight against tyranny.

He delivered his proclamation to Fonville McWhorter, chairman of the Atlanta Flag Day committee, urging that all persons pay honor to the flags and to the mothers of sons who have joined the various war services.

At the same time, it was announced that Atlanta Lodge No. 78, B. P. O. E., will observe commemorative exercises at 6 o'clock Sunday afternoon at 736 Peachtree street. H. C. Fabian will be the speaker and the Georgia State Guard will furnish music for patriotic songs led by Charles Cimmerro. Other Elks lodges throughout the country will join in observance of the day.

KIWANIS SPEAKER.
VIDALIA, Ga., June 10.—Bob Willets was principal speaker at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Tuesday evening. He is a recent graduate of Mercer University, ministerial department, and will soon enter the Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky. He is a native of this city.

CANNERY OPENS.
TALLAPOOSA, Ga., June 10. The Tallapoosa canning plant has opened with a good season in prospect. People are urged to can everything possible as many things that are bought now will not be on the market by winter.

WHEN YOUR HAIR BEGINS TO THIN at these Points

BALDNESS IS APPROACHING

WHEN your hair stops growing and starts going at the crown, temples, or frontal point, baldness is preparing to "take over" your scalp. Thinning hair at these points, or dandruff-laden, itchy scalp should warn you that your scalp needs the immediate attention of a Thomas expert.

Thomas' individualized scalp treatment effectively removes dandruff and soothes the scalp itch which dandruff causes. Thomas doesn't rely on old-fashioned hit-or-miss methods but skillfully uses modern, precise therapeutic devices. During the past twenty years Thomas has helped more than a quarter-million persons to obtain relief from scalp worries.

You, too, would do well to turn your troublesome hair problems over to a Thomas expert. Let him show you exactly how Thomas treatment removes dandruff scales, and how it helps to give your scalp that fresh, health feeling. Consult a Thomas expert today—in private—without charge or obligation. See for yourself exactly what Thomas treatment is and how it works.

Housing Units In Columbus to Be Registered

Atlanta and Other Defense Areas To Be Registered at Later Date.

Registration of housing accommodations in five defense-rental areas in the southeast will get under way next Monday, June 15, Acting Regional Rent Executive Frank C. Ralls of the Office of Price Administration announced here yesterday.

The designated areas are Columbus, Ga., Muscogee county and Precinct 1 of Russell county, Ala., which includes Phenix City; Birmingham, Ala., and Jefferson county; Mobile, Ala., and Mobile county; Wilmington, N. C., and New Hanover county; and Hampton Roads, Va., area, including Hampton, Newport News, Norfolk, Portsmouth, South Norfolk and Suffolk.

Ralls said the order applies to all houses, apartments, flats, tenements and similar places of habitation. Hotels, rooming and boarding houses will be registered at a later date.

"Once the forms are at hand, it should be a simple process," he said. "After the landlord has filled in the specified information, he has only to drop the postage-free envelope into the nearest mail box."

By government order, rents payable June 1 in Columbus have been cut back as of January 1, 1941. In the other four areas rents payable June 1 were ordered cut back as of April 1, 1941. The action was taken, OPA officials said, as a means of preventing rent inflation in defense areas.

The registration, required by law, must be completed by midnight, June 30.

Other defense-rental areas which will register at a later date include:

Alabama—Anniston, Huntsville, Muscle Shoals, Talladega, Gadsden, Dothan-Ozark, Lanett, Montgomery, Selma, Tuscaloosa and Tuskegee.

Florida—Gainesville, Starke, Jacksonville, Panama City, Pensacola, Tampa, Banana River, Fort Myers, Hobe Sound-Stewart, Key West, Orlando, Sebring, Tallahassee, Valparaiso.

Georgia—Macon, Savannah, Albany, Atlanta, Augusta, Bainbridge-Cairo, Brunswick, Hinesville, Moultrie, Toccoa, Valdosta, South Carolina—Charleston, Columbia, Spartanburg, Beaufort, Greenville, Greenwood, Sumter.

Group to Study Curtailment of Rail Service

Increasing Capacity Also To Be Considered at Capital.

Temporary suspension of nonessential rail service and elimination of all incomplete classification will be discussed June 16 in Washington in a meeting of a special war committee representing public service and railway commissions, it was revealed here yesterday.

Walter R. McDonald, committee chairman and chairman of the Georgia Public Service Commission, said members would confer with executives of the Office of Defense Transportation on the immediate necessity of increasing rail capacity.

McDonald said the group would explore "various approaches for relief," but predicted solution would involve arbitrary allocation of rolling stock. He said Louisiana had taken the lead in this, granting railroads authority for temporary suspension of secondary service during the emergency periods, contingent only upon notifying the commission.

George Christians In Prison Here

George W. Christians, convicted last Thursday in Chattanooga in the nation's first sedition trial of World War II, entered the Atlanta penitentiary yesterday to begin a five-year sentence.

The prisoner arrived here during the afternoon. Warden Joseph W. Sanford said last night. He was in custody of Deputy United States Marshal Coyell Ricketts.

Walter L. Ray Dies; Was Credit Manager

Walter L. Ray, 61, credit manager of Ed and Al Matthews, Inc., furniture firm, died yesterday at his residence, 2074 McLenox avenue, N. E.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. W. H. Crane; two sisters, Mrs. J. B. Adams and Mrs. J. H. Peeples.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Trinity Chapel, with the Rev. A. B. Couch officiating. Burial will be in Norcross cemetery.

Extra-Fast Relief HEADACHE-NEURALGIA

Headaches, the pains of neuralgia, muscular aches and functional periodic pains are quickly relieved by "BC". Why? Because the prescription-type ingredients in "BC" are readily assimilated. Such quick action naturally speeds relief.

Keep a 10c or 25c package of "BC" handy. Be prepared when minor aches and pains develop. Use only as directed. Consult a physician when pains persist.

Syria Fighting Victim Gets Back Into Service

CAMP WHEELER, Ga., June 10. (AP)—Wounded while an ambulance driver during the 1940-41 Syrian campaign, Martin P. Knowlton, 21-year-old Birmingham (Ala.) youth, is back in service now—this time as a buck private in Uncle Sam's Army. Knowlton was under fire for 18 months as an ambulance driver with the American Field Service attached to the British and Free French armies. He was seriously wounded on July 2, 1941, when his Red Cross truck was machine-gunned and wrecked. He spent five months in a Palestine hospital and was shipped back to the United States last January. He enlisted in the Army a month ago and is now a member of Company "A" in the Third Training Battalion. His only complaint is that the doctors "claim my bones still aren't mended sufficiently for me to get into the parachute troops."

To fill an empty house, rent an empty room, telephone WA. 6363.
